Heights Schools Open With 3,833 Pupils; Increase Of 597

Total enrollment in Arlington Heights grade and high schools reached 3,833 as of Wednesday, an increase of 597 students over last year.

Largest enrollment is found in the public elementary schools, where 1,729 students were registered the first week. Division of students in the four schools in the system are as follows: North, 632; South, 382; Dryden, 322; Junior high, 393.

Opening day of school last year found 1,334 pupils enrolled, which shows an increase of 395 students in the public elementary system alone. Fortunately the new Dryden place school was ready to accommodate this added load. Split sessions are being held at North school this year in the first and second grades. It is hoped the new Arlington Ridge building will be ready for occupancy next fall to relieve the growing pains at North school.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS township high school had an enrollment of 1,185, compared to 1,065 on opening day last year. Class breakdown is as follows: freshmen, 351; sophomores, 299; juniors, 184; seniors, 251.

St. James Catholic school opened the season with 555 students, an increase of 51 over last year's enrollment. To handle the additional enrollment the school has had to adopt double sessions in the first and second grades. Ten teachers are on the staff.

St. Peter Lutheran school has a total enrollment of 364, compared to 333 in September 1951. Nine teachers are on the staff, including three new ones, John Loock, Miss Ruth Barchman and Miss Emily Bender.

The new activities building at St. Peters is not ready for occupancy, but it is expected to be completed in the near future, at which time an open house will be held.

Four More Polio Cases; All Light

Four more cases of polio have been reported in this area, all of which are considered light, and the patients are on the road to recovery.

Michael Stoik, 2, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stoik, 709 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, entered Evanston hospital September 3 for treatment.

* * *

RONALD RICHARDSON, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Richardson, 628 Larkdale, Prospect Meadows, Mount Prospect, contracted spinal bulbar polio August 25, but his case was light and did not require hospitalization. Another Mount Prospect child, Janice Lachowicz, 4, who lives on the rural route, is being treated in Evanston hospital.

Stephen Ledger, 12, Linden drive, Northbrook, has nonparalytic polio, and is being cared for in his home.

To date Cook county suburbs have a total of 218 cases and six deaths, compared to last year's 148 cases, an increase of only 50 per cent, and 13 deaths, a decrease of 50 per cent.

North Western R. R. Asks $50,000 for Two Parks

The few members of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce who have studied the Stanton and Rockwell plan for downtown parking appear to agree that while the three year plan is adequate, the recommendations for the first and second years should be combined and started at once.

The engineers suggested that a modest beginning should be made this year using the railroad parks and existing "extra" street paving. The report assumes that the railroad company will not ask any price for the land to be utilized.

While the special committee, appointed several months ago to confer with the railroad company, has made no report, the Chamber of Commerce has been advised that the North Western is asking $50,000 for the two end parks south of the railroad. It is not known if the company takes into consideration that railroad commuters are today using half of one of those parks that it is placing upon the market.

* * *

IT IS NO SECRET that several owners of property south of Campbell st., marked for parking, are ready to enter into immediate negotiations, preferring a sale at a reasonable price to condemnation proceedings.

A few months delay may mean the erection of further business blocks along S. Dunton, which would block present planning.

The plan commission made it plain Monday night that it expects the business interests to "carry the ball" on any parking problem. President Kehe of the CC says he is ready to present the plan for consideration of the entire membership of the chamber.

Mr. Rockwell said Monday evening that there are three sources for funds for the project. In his opinion the first to be tapped is the state gas tax money; second, a general bond issue; third, the installation of parking meters. He also added that the establishment of a Parking Authority might be a solution.

* * *

THE PARKING MAP appearing in this issue is worthy of study. First, it provides for some additional northside parking by using Miner street west of Dunton; and the elimination of the small parkway south of the Lutheran Youth building.

The first step south of the track is the use of part of the present parks, which will permit diagonal parking on both sides of Davis street, without disturbing the hard maple trees.

The plan for the large parking area calls for eventually establishing parking areas all the way between Evergreen and Highland, with an entrance to all parking areas, starting from State road.

Youth Center Opens Friday

The Center, sponsored by the Lions club, is located at the field house. The Park Board grants permission for the use of the basement, which is decorated and furnished by the Center.

* * *

OFFICERS of Ramble Inn are: Tom Theis, president; Wayne Hesch, vice-president; Gail Moore, secretary and Danny Maher, treasurer. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell serve as directors.

Ramble Inn is open to all high school age students in the Arlington Heights township high school district. June graduates may also maintain a membership for one year following graduation. The Inn is open Wednesday, 7:30 to 10 p.m. Fridays, 7:30 to 12 midnight; and Saturdays, 7:30 to 11:30 p. m.

Opening plans include the redecorating of Ramble Inn and the purchase of new furniture, all of which is handled by the members.

Voluminous Report to Receive Careful Study by Plan Board

Members of Arlington Heights Planning Commission spent over four hours Monday night studying the final report of Stanton and Rockwell, engineers retained to present a comprehensive village plan.

Only the high spots were touched that evening as Messrs. Rockwell and Stanton outlined the text matter contained in the report and exhibited 12 maps.

From time to time the engineers were severely questioned regarding their logic in making certain recommendations. The engineers repeatedly reminded the members of the committee that they were hired as consulting engineers and their recommendations were their best thought on the matters at hand. In plain English they were standing pat on the report as being their best thinking taking into account the facts and materials available to them.

While copies of the volumized report will be presented to the members of the village board at once, the planning commission will require considerable study before it will be ready to present definite recommendations to the village council.

However the parking need in the downtown area is so acute that the commission accepted in principal that part of the report pertaining to downtown parking areas.

The village board will be so informed and copies of the map will be furnished members of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce which body is expected to transmit to the village board their recommendations as to the first steps that should be taken.

* * *

THE IMPORTANCE of an overall plan for the village was repeatedly stressed by the engineers. Members of the planning board were told it should be the guide for all future development of the municipality for many years.

The engineers made 18 definite recommendations which start with the official adoption and establishment of a naturally defined and permanent jurisdictional limit.

In other words, Arlington Heights should not be allowed to grow like Topsy. The door to future subdivisions should not be opened too wide. No area should be admitted that is not within Arlington's present natural drainage. The use of water and sewage to outside areas should be carefully studied. The statement was made that at present 50 percent of the area within the village is not being served by water and sewage systems.

The local school and park boards should select today the areas for future schools and parks.

* * *

THE MAPS prepared show land use, population distribution, building values, land values, lot sizes, residential unit areas, provision for additional downtown parking, schools and parks thoroughfare plan for Arlington Heights regional area public utilities, present and future zoning, and a vicinity map.

Mr. Rockwell, under questioning, said that the first step for a reduction in the area zoned for commercial and industry would be the appointment of a zoning board for a complete rezoning of the entire village.

The report has some startling financial figures. The engineers think that a capital budget should be set up which would be in effect a "savings fund" account to be used for many of the improvements covered in the overall plan. Some of those figures seemed a little startling to the two board members who were present. (Incidently all the members of the village board had been invited to be present.)

* * *

THE ENGINEERS think that under a six year plan over a quarter of a million dollars could come from present "earnings" of the village without recourse to special bond issues. Part of that amount would be state gas tax funds.

They recommended that the village could set aside practically 10 per cent of its present income for such a savings account. This year's income is given as $288,000.

Members of the plan commission agreed to meet as often as possible in order to make final recommendations to the village board at the earliest possible date. It was suggested that the widest possible amount of publicity should be given to their final report.

Protest Use Of Recreation Park For Carnivals

The use of Arlington Heights Recreation Park for carnivals awaits a decision by the park board. Fifty Arlington residents appeared before that body Tuesday evening, claiming that the carnivals had become too big for the available space in the park.

Many home owners told of their discomfort and damage to their gardens and lawns because of inadequate parking facilities.

Speakers for the Legion and VFW told of the civic and patriotic activities that had been made possible by the profits realized from the yearly carnivals. Mention was made of the Legion support of the summertime baseball program and the boys sent to the Boys' State.

Mr. O'Brien, speaking in behalf of the Legion, said the continuation of the Legion program hung in the balance. "Do not pull the rug out from under us."

* * *

THE ENTIRE discussion, in which 20 persons joined, was on a friendly basis. The service organizations were repeatedly assured that they could depend upon the whole hearted support of Arlington Heights residents if they would only find a new site for the carnivals.

"Remember, it is three carnivals, or three weeks disruption of the recreational program, that we are objecting to," said Les Grant, 211 N. Haddow.

The fireworks display, the Kiddie Day, and the parades that have been a part of past carnivals, were praised by practically every speaker who asked for the carnival ban.

Earl E. Hadland, 702 E. Park, who is a member of the park board, told of the great success of the 1952 park recreation program, which probably exceeded any park district in the northwest area. "It is not only the carnivals that are growing," said Hadland. "Our summertime program is also growing and needs the space."

Paulus, Rodewald Receive Civil Defense Training; Hold Key Jobs

Civil defense director, Nicholas M. Lattof, announced the appointment of Edward C. Paulus as instructor for the following Arlington Heights civil defense services: fire warden, rescue warden, and rescue squad.

Paulus is head of the shop department at Arlington Heights high school. He has just returned from the National Civil Defense college in Olney, Md., which he attended during the period August 18 to 30. Paulus has had the best training available in the nation in fire and rescue work. He is now well qualified and ready to assist the community in organizing and teaching the personnel recruited for these essential services.

Lattof also announced the appointment of Marvin Rodewald, assistant chief of the fire department, as director of the rescue service in Arlington Heights. Rodewald expects to go to Washington for two weeks training September 20. He will take the same course that Paulus has had. Upon his return, he hopes to organize, with the assistance of Paulus, two or three rescue squads for Arlington Heights.

* * *

International Situation, Inspection of the Rescue Street, How to Instruct, Caring for and Using Manila ond Wire Ropes, Uses of Tools for a Rescue Squad, Introduction to Rescue Operations, Handling and Care of Ladders, Handling of Casualties.

Carries and Pick-Ups — Improvised Stretchers, Fire Fighting, Use of Lifting Levers, Principles of Tunneling, Lashing and Rigging, Shoring, Bracing and Breaching Walls, Planning a Rescue—Stages—Marking Buildings, Damage to Utilities, Atomic Blast Effects, Reconnaissance and Location of Casualties, Surveying Damage and Condition of Buildings, Rescue from Heights and Basements, Casualty Faking, Building the Local Civil Defense Rescue School, Practice Field Teaching and Lecturing, and Night Exercise.

Paulus speaks with enthusiasm of rescue street at the National Civil Defense college. This street consists of seven buildings that have the appearance of being hit by a block buster. These buildings were constructed that way to give men and women taking the course actual experience in rescuing people from such buildings that may be covered with rubble. The staff college provides trucks that are equipped for such operations. The last and final test was to rescue people at night with all lights turned off. The instructors did not give the personnel taking the course any assistance. The rescue trucks are equipped with their own generators, which provided the necessary light. One casualty was secluded under two floors and much rubble. The only way to reach the casualty was to cut the wall or parts of the two floors. At 11:45 p.m., the stokes basket bearing the casualty was removed.

* * *

THE FEDERAL government had training schools in operation in California, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, and Washington, D. C. Because of the recent cut in the budget, only two schools are now available—in California, and in Olney, Md. Governor Fine, Pennsylvania, visited the college at Olney where he had six men in attendance. He announced to the group that the six men taking the course (with Paulus) would go to Pennsylvania to take charge for the state of the training center discontinued by the federal government.

Paulus observed that the Eastern part of the United States is more conscious of the need for adequate civil defense than the Middle West. He reports that many corporations send their own men for training. For example, U. S. Steel made reservations for eight men for the next course and for six men for every two-week course thereafter for some time.

While most people think of rescue work when hit by bombs, Paulus calls attention to the need of such service in case of railroad disaster, airplane disaster, floods, tornadoes, etc.

The civil defense organization in Arlington Heights is building up a nucleus of trained leaders who will gradually develop a program that will be second to none in this whole area.

High School Magazine Drive Opens Friday

Typewriters, watches, radios, and cameras are included in the 107 individual salesmen's prizes for which local high school students will compete in their annual magazine subscription campaign, which begins Friday and continues through Tuesday, Sept. 23.

Proceeds from the sale of subscriptions finance, or help to finance, many of the school's extra-curricular activities, including the athletic program, band, yearbook, newspaper, and student government.

Students will offer the full Crowell-Collier subscription list which includes "Collier's Magazine," "Woman's Home Companion," "American Magazine" and most of the widely read national magazines. Max Reynolds, of the Crowell-Collier company will supervise the campaign.

* * *

NEIL BARR, student committee chairman, announced that a special arrangement has been made with Reader's Digest, Inc., and that subscriptions for Reader's Digest will also be taken.

Homeroom captains met Wednesday to complete the student organization for the campaign. Teachers and administrators met after school to organize their support. At an all-school assembly today, students will receive instructions in writing subscriptions, and will learn how prizes may be earned.

All students who turn in a subscription Monday, Sept. 15, will receive a candy bar. Boxes of candy will be given to the high selling home rooms.

In order to save the money, which has been paid to professional accountants in the previous campaigns, the first hour bookkeeping class and other selected business students will handle collections and records. Mrs. Hazel Faulkner, head of the commercial department, will supervise this work.

The goal for this year's drive has been set at $12,000, about 30% higher than actual sales of last year. Last year, 798 students, 75% of the student body, sold $9,542.

Arlington City Directory Depends On Cooperation Of General Public

The young ladies who are gathering the data for the new Arlington Heights City directory are not endeavoring to pry into any family secrets. The data they request is necessary if the directory is to contain the name of every resident who is over 21 years of age.

Designation of occupation is not necessary except it will be an aid to strangers who know the surname, but not the first name of the individual they seek. Some surnames will more than cover an entire page in the directory.

Special Election At District 56 Saturday

Patrons of Forest View school, S. State rd., Elk Grove, will go to the polls Saturday to give its approval to an increase in the educational rate of the district, from 40c to 61c.

The one room school houses 33 students this year. It was recently discovered that children residing at the Arlington airport belong in the Forest View district. Since the school was unable to accommodate the addition of these students, which number almost 70, they are being sent to the Arlington Hts. elementary school on a tuition basis.

This factor makes the increase in the tax rate a necessity.

One Bus Service Serves 5 Schools In Township

Fourteen hundred school pupils in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Feehanville, Prospect Heights and Wheeling are depending upon Tinsley bus service. The job is being adequately performed by a close schedule. Except for possible snow storms in the winter months, every pupil will reach school on time.

Buses serving Arlington Heights high school arrive at 8 o'clock for school opening at 8:10. There are 740 students who are using the transportation.

"By dividing up the buses for the elementary school runs," says Mr. Tinsley, "those pupils also reach the schools before tardy bells."

* * *

DRIVERS ARE Vernon Boyd, Nellie Meade, Grace Erikson, Sylvia Ziabel, Ed Harmon, Ed Walpole, Mable Cummings, Roger Hogreve, James Doran, Walt Tinsley, Art Magnusen, Lester Aldrich, and Art Muller. Eleven new Onedia buses are in use, with an extra bus available for emergency use.

State police in checking the qualifications of the drivers the first day of school, discovered two of the women did not have their state licenses. They were given tickets and fined $20 each by Judge Behrens.

Tinsley explains the situation as follows: "All requirements were supposedly met prior to school opening, although one woman had not yet received her license. In the pre-opening checkup of the drivers I found one man unqualified. He was immediately discharged and a woman, who had not yet taken her bus drivers test, was pressed into service. The state police acted that day."

Within 24 hours the required tests were passed by the two women. All the drivers are taking the first aid course offered Monday evenings in conjunction with the Red Cross, at the high school.

Under the lease contract for the use of the buses, the high school board was required to pay the cost of the "F" licenses demanded by the state.

The Harvel Transportation has added a fourth bus to serve Arlington Heights public schools, St. James school, St. Peter school and the general public.

Volunteers Do Their Bit To Help Polio Victims

Two Arlington Heights residents are among the 98 polio patients treated at Evanston hospital between June 1 and September 8, this year. Evanston hospital is one of few hospitals on the North Shore set up to treat polio patients in the early, or acute, stages.

Since the first of the year 145 have been admitted with suspected polio and of that number 103 have had the disease. Last year at this time 119 had been admitted with suspected polio of whom 99 had the disease. By the end of last year Evanston hospital had treated 157 polio patients, the largest polio case load of any privately supported hospital in the greater Chicago area and a number second only to the total treated by municipal contagious hospital.

Seventy-nine of the patients this year have had spinal poliomyelitis and 24 have had bulbar. Eleven patients had tracheotomies, an operation on the throat to facilitate breathing. Eight have needed respirators. There have been three deaths.

* * *

THE YOUNGEST victim was 12 months old and the eldest 42 years. Twenty-five were in an age group from one to five years; 23 in the six to ten-year-old group; 18 in the 11 to 15-year-old age group; ten 16 years to 21. In the older age brackets 20 were in the 22 to 30-year-old age group; six in the 31 to 40-year group; one was 42.

Providing nursing care is one of the major problems in proper treatment of poliomyelitis. For each of the eight patients in respirators this year, three special duty nurses were in attendance daily since a respirator patient is never left alone. In addition another nurse was available for relief duty.

Twice the regular nursing staff required in other sections of the hospital is necessary on the polio floor in order to perform nursing duties, such as applying hot packs, assisting with feeding and other special services. Any graduate or practical nurse available is urged to contact the Evanston hospital nursing department. Because of the emergency character of poliomyelitis, nurses from other sections have been placed in the contagious ward and there are thus openings for nurses, practical nurses and ward helpers in other areas of the hospital.

A GROUP of 30 volunteers is giving valuable assistance in the post-polio ward, applying hot packs, assisting with feeding and doing personal services. A mother from Highland Park whose two children are in the contagious ward is working full time daily in the post-polio section. Another mother, whose son was in Evanston hospital with polio last year, is assisting.

In the volunteer group are representatives from the Elaine Settler foundation, founded when 23 members of Rho Sigma Delta sorority at DePaul university banded together following the death of their sorority sister from polio. Their aim is to fight the disease by providing funds for research, giving equipment and volunteer service. Since 1950 friends and relatives to Mrs. Settler have joined the group and the membership has grown to almost 300.

* * *

THE WOMEN, most of them young mothers, have had various fund-raising drives which netted enough to provide an iron lung and rocking bed for the Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, a $3,500 check for research and 50 plastic collars. Members take an active part in the March of Dimes drive.

Ten Elaine Settler Foundation members from various sections of Chicago are now volunteering in the post-polio ward and others plan to help in the physical therapy department later. Volunteer chairman for the group is Mrs. Faith Fisher, 4934 Monticello st., Chicago.

Over $2 Million Spent For Schools Last Year In Wheeling Township

R. A. Franzen, Wheeling township school treasurer, publishes in this issue a comprehensive report of the receipts and expenditures of school funds under his jurisdiction.

The report is worthy of the study of every tax payer and school patron. Residents of Wheeling school district can learn the amount realized by the sale of the Merrill school and other property. The bonds and expenses of that school district the past year total nearly one hundred thousand dollars.

Prospect Heights school district requires over $75,000 each year. School district 24, Wilson school, got by on $20,000, and District 26, Feehanville, $30,000.

It is a different story in District 25, Arlington Heights, which maintained three schools last year, has added a fourth this year and has two more on the way. This district spent a million dollars for building and building maintenance. The greater part came from bond issues. Less than a half million was spent for educational purposes.

Expenditures by the high school is not as great as many would expect. Educational fund costs were $585,000, building fund $65,000, bond fund $112,000 and construction costs $346,000.

Wheeling township schools are big business, requiring a lot of tax money to meet the increasing number of children who are entering the schools.

Capture Stolen Car In 100 Mile Per Hour Chase

Wheeling police officers, Sgt. Michael Lazowski and Patrolman Duke Corey, pursued a speeding auto, traveling 100 miles per hour, for three miles Monday, finally curbing it at rte. 21 and River rd.

The car, driven by a 14-year-old boy, was stolen 30 minutes earlier from Joseph Dorfler, Lake st., Mundelein. He had left the car parked in front of his home. The boy was turned over to Mundelein police.

Closet Fire Calls Out Fire Department

A closet full of clothes was burned out Saturday afternoon at the Joseph Orgler home, 733 N. Beverly lane, Arlington Heights.

The firemen were able to confine the fire to the closet and adjoining hall, but the living room and other parts of the home were damaged by smoke. The home's furnishings escaped without serious damage.

Mrs. Orgler was away from home at the time, but her husband, who was working nearby, fought the blaze with water from a garden hose until the fire department arrived. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

A special meeting of the Scarsdale Improvement association will be held Friday evening at the Legion hall, 7:30 p. m. to determine the association's official stand in regard to the proposed shopping center on State rd. All residents are asked to attend.

Thursday Last Day To View Antique-Hobby Show At Arlington

The ninth annual Antique and Hobby show will come to a close at 10 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 11, at the Arlington Heights Methodist church.

Sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service, this three day event has attracted hundreds of patrons during the first two days. Antiques and hobbies of every description surround the theme of the show, "The Country Kitchen," which is set up on the gym stage.

There is still time for visitors to browse through the "Antique Shops" set up in the church parlors, view the many hobbies, and enjoy the buffet supper in the "Calico" dining room, which will be served between 5:30 and 7:30 p.m.

The show is under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert J. Marsh, with Mrs. Richard Bronwell, co-chairman, assisting.

Arlington Community Chest Requires Immediate Action

As this paper goes to press a meeting is being held in the Arlington Heights field house to lay plans for the community chest drive that starts nationally next month.

Many local organizations were in favor of the chest plan when it was proposed early this year.

If To College

Many students will be leaving this week end to continue their studies at different colleges throughout the country. Those leaving from this community are Jim Blackburn, who will enter his second year at Iowa State, and Patti Ryden, Janet Weiser, Carol Cox, Elaine Skadberg and Joan Groth are all sorority sisters of the Pi Phi House who are looking forward to next term at the University of Illinois.

Birthdays

Nancy Givens observed her third birthday August 31. Joining in the celebration were her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Repenning, and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Vaught of Chicago. Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Givens.

Linda Menzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Menzel, celebrated her eighth birthday Tuesday afternoon by being hostess to 11 of her friends. Those enjoying refreshments were Sandy Schultheis, Debbie Holloway, Janet Sauer, Kathy Swinbank, Carolyn Nelson, Ann Warren, Caroline Bradford, Lynn Gooding, Nan Tully, Suzie Keller and Jeanie Zimmerman.

Home From Hospital

Ten year old Michael Nolan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nolan, was released Sunday from the Passavant Memorial hospital, Chicago, after four days during which he underwent treatment for a stomach disorder.

Hail and Farewell

Mrs. Lorraine Cunningham and Mrs. Harriet Swinbank were co-hostesses at a "get together" Wednesday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Hilda Shave and Mrs. Maxine Menzel, who are leaving the community, and three new neighbors, Mrs. Alice Moss, Mrs. Katherine Lloyd and Mrs. Barbara Rapp. It was an opportunity for the newcomers to meet their immediate neighbors. Eighteen guests were present.

A "farewell party" honoring the Albert Perlins, who will be leaving the community in the near future, was given September 3 by Mrs. Thomas McGough. Sixteen of the neighbors from Illinois and Chicago aves. were present.

European Tour

Bonnie Colvin returned last Thursday from a six weeks European tour in which she traveled through eight different countries, Scotland, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Italy and France, in that order, spending the last week of her vacation in England. She took 18 rolls of colored film during her travels and was so impressed she hopes to make a return trip in the future. She was accompanied on the tour by friends, Miss Dorothy Wammen, her mother, Mrs. Carl Wammen, and Mrs. Anna Quall, all of Rapid City, S. D.

Neighborhood Doings

The Harvey Thompson family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Antonis of Maywood for dinner Saturday evening.

A barbecue steak fry was enjoyed by several neighbors of the James Colvins on the back lawn of their home a week ago Saturday. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Les Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ray, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Arend and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Waterbury of Milwaukee, Wis., who were spending the Labor day week end with the Arends.

The Frank Kreuschs motored to Wausau, Wis., over the Labor day week end, where they visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Symcak.

The Norbert Willging family spent the Labor day week end in Dubuque, Iowa, visiting relatives. Her mother, Mrs. C. A. Rastatter, returned home with the family and remained until Wednesday of this week.

Returning Vacationers

The Paul Fellingham family recently spent two weeks in Empire, Mich., dividing their time between Glen Lake and Traverse Bay. They joined her sisters and their families, Mr. and Mrs. H. Decker and Dr. and Mrs. John Coggan of Detroit, Mich., who also were vacationing there.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Mears and their two children, Carol and David, just returned from a six day fishing trip in Hackensack, Minn., with reports that the fish were biting.

Home Ec Classes Given Demonstration On Home Freezing Methods

Demonstrations of home freezing techniques were presented to home economics classes at the Arlington Heights high school Wednesday and Thursday, September 10 and 11, by Mary Lou Welchmeyer, home economist for the International Harvester company.

Miss Welchmeyer has done a great deal of research in the use of freezers and refrigerators, and is widely recognized as an authority in the field. Her demonstrations at the local high school were arranged by John F. Garlisch and Sons, local agents for International Harvester.

"Getting the most out of your meals" was the topic of the Wednesday demonstration, which dealt primarily with the use and care of refrigerators and freezers, and featured the frozen dessert.

'Quick meals for the busy housewife" was the topic for Thursday. The feature of this demonstration was the freezing of whole meals.

Five demonstrations were presented on each day, the first beginning at 8:10 and the last ending at 2:15.

Miss Mary Handlin, home economics teacher, had hoped to invite housewives from the high school district to the demonstrations, but the arrangements were not completed in time. Housewives, who read this article before the demonstrations are completed will be most welcome. They may call the high school to get the exact time.

Elected to CPA Group

Quentin K. Ford, 621 N. State rd., Arlington Heights, was elected to membership in the Illinois society of certified public accountants by recent action of the board of directors. He is engaged in the practice of public accounting in Arlington Hts. and has held an Illinois CPA certificate since 1936.

Prior to establishing his own practice he was controller of E. W. Boehm company, the Chicago distributor for the A. B. Dick company, with whom he had previously been associated. For some years Ford was a member of the staff of Arthur Andersen & Co., CPAs. He originally became a member of the Illinois Society shortly after passing the three-day state CPA examination, now uniform in all 48 states and several territories.

Mr. Ford is also a member of the American institute of accountants, the national organization of CPAs, and has been active in professional affairs for many years.

Becomes Welcome Wagon Hostess

Mrs. Perle J. Stuthridge of Mt. Prospect, returned home recently from Memphis, Tenn., where she completed a course of instruction preparing her to represent Welcome Wagon, Inc. as hostess in Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Hts.

The Welcom Wagon hostess knows her towns, and wherever she goes, she carries a word of its outstanding features—its libraries, churches, newspapers, parks, museums, youth groups, welfare associations, banks, shops, radio stations, restaurants, schools and services.

Thank Firemen

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Orgler, 733 N. Beverly lane, Arlington Heights, wish to thank the firemen for their prompt response to their fire call last Saturday. The kindness of neighbors was also greatly appreciated.

Red Cross Holds Free First Aid Classes

Opportunity to take a full 20-hour course in first aid is being offered to men and women without charge this month, according to Mrs. Edward G. Carlisle, 1006 S. Vail ave., Red Cross first aid chairman for Arlington Heights.

RECOMMENDED by civil defense authorities and safety experts as a life-saving link between onset of accident and illness and professional care, basic first aid skills are being taught in the Arlington Heights high school Monday evenings, 7:30-9:30 p. m. They began Monday and classes will meet for nine consecutive sessions. There is still time to enroll, even though the first class has been held. All standard first aid courses are open to men and women over 16 years of age. Applicants may register by attending the next session of the class.

Mrs. Carlisle called attention to countless uses of first aid to insure safety in home and industry. "The training of the individual citizen in first aid is recognized to be one of our greatest weapons in national defense," she said. "I hope that many Arlington Heights citizens will take advantage of this opportunity to acquire the skill in temporary care of the sick and injured, which frequently is the deciding factor between life and death in time of crisis."

New books received by your Library: "Submarine" is the true and heroic story of USS Trigger, of those who sailed her against the enemy, and of her life and death in the Pacific. It is the simple, powerful story of Commander Edward L. Beach, USN, who joined Trigger before she was commissioned and who remained with her until just before her last patrol three years later. This is the first book about submarines in World War II to be written by a man who fought in them. Exciting, sometimes bitter, sometimes sentimental, "Submarine" leaves no doubt: that is what happened, this is the way it was.

"Postmarked Moscow," by Lydia Kirk is a really different sort of book about Russia. Lively, acute and informal, it gives an American woman's view of the day-to-day living that never appears in the political chronicles of the U. S. R. R. Lydia Kirk's post of observation could not have been better. From 1949 to 1952 her husband, Admiral Alan G. Kork, served as American Ambassador in Moscow. During that difficult tour of duty Mrs. Kirk saw everything she could, thought about it all, and kept her perspective. The result is an absorbing book which is far truer and far more rewarding than any more pretentious volumes.

"JOHN BONWELL," a novel of the Ohio River Valley—1818-1862, by Charles K. Pulse. This swift-moving, historically detailed novel by a well-known Cincinnati attorney is the story of how the river country of Ohio and Kentucky took the road toward Civil War. It is the story of people, villages and towns, during the most crucial period of that region bounded by Maysville and Cincinnati, Chillicothe and Lexington. Through scenes of love and battle, the Ohio river flows, dividing slavery from freedom while it binds the region together as a great artery of commerce and immigration.

In "The Old Man and the Sea," by Ernest Hemingway, a new classic emerges, a great book that is like no other. Shorter than the accepted novel, longer than what has come to be called the long story, "The Old Man and the Sea" cannot be classified, for it writes its own law in literature. It is simple, compelling, magnificent. Every word is right; not one word more is needed, and the result is art. At the end you have known a hero, an old man who embodies the essential nobility in human striving; you have known another hero, a giant fish who is the embodiment of what is noble in animate nature; for three days you have known another presence, vast but inanimate, the world of the Gulf Stream. You have lived a great tragedy, but a tragedy which, at the last, emerges without grief into beauty.

"You, the Jury," by Mary Borden. This fine novel, covering the years just past in England, unrolls the story of Martin Merriedew as Lady Barbara tells it to us. Barbara Patche, daughter of the Earl of Greymouth, and her brother, Francis, played as children, with the family of the village doctor —particularly with his son, Martin Merriedew. This radiant youth and Francis, the young lord of the manor, became inseparable friends, but Barbara, with all the worldly experience and background of the sophisticated, well-bred English woman, understands Martin less and less. For Martin, attempting to live the Christ ideals in the modern world with its lust, greed, selfishness and wards, cuts himself off from his childhood friends, is ostracized by society and the novel's climax comes in his trial for high treason. The judge is Barbara's husband. You are the jury. This novel is for readers who enjoy a really big novel of men and women and ideas.

St. James Church To Hold Inquiry Classes

At the request of His Eminence, Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Saint James parish, Arlington Heights, will join the Catholic archdiocesan program of inquiry classes. The first class will be held September 29 at 8 p. m. in the school hall.

Registration is not necessary and no fees are involved. Non-Catholics interested in the church, non-Catholic partners in mixed marriages anxious to fulfill their obligations, and Catholics wishing a refresher course are invited to attend.

The class will meet once a week for one hour under the direction of Rev. Robert A. Reicher. There will be a question box for those who wish to make inquiries anonymously, as well as an open forum. Literature will be supplied. Duration of the class will be announced later.

Legion Auxiliary News

Merle Guild unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, Arlington Heights, held its first meeting of the year with its new president, Mrs. Charles Berry, presiding last week.

Mrs. George Jorgensen gave a report on the presentation of a wheel chair to a paraplegic patient at Vaughan Center hospital, Hines. The young man, who has a family, will now be able to go home on leave occasionally.

There will be a social meeting of the group September 16 at the Legion home. Members are asked to attend and bring a prospective member. Mrs. Irene Weidner and Mrs. Charles Berry will be the hostesses.

New Industries Boost Personal Property Assessments

Cook county's 1952 personal property assessment has increased nearly 81 million dollars (5.3%) over last year's evaluation. County Assessor John S. Clark announced this week.

The new county assessment is $1,565,785,652 as compared with $1,484,861,988 in 1951.

"Larger inventories and new or additional industrial machinery and equipment have been in many cases reported for the year by Chicago and Cook county factories and industrial developments," he said.

Schaumburg township shows a decrease of $8,224. Its total is $265,031.

Wheeling township leads all northwest towns. It totals $5,118,685 or representing an increase of $313,995.

Personal property assessment in Palatine has increased $115,390. The 1952 assessment is $1,864,984.

Niles township with its many new industrial plants, has jumped $2,479,603 and totals $14,306,770.

LOCAL DELIVERED PRICE FOR THE NEW 1952 BUICK SPECIAL
2-door 6-passenger SPECIAL Sedan MODEL 46D (Illustrated) $2251.88
Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

WE'LL tell you the answer to that one—it's the figures on the price tag.

For some reason, lots of people just can't believe they can buy a Buick at a price so close to "the low-priced three."

Maybe it's because a Buick seems so much better and bigger.

Maybe it's because they think Buick has so much more power and room—which is true.

Maybe it is because so many distinguished people own Buicks—which is also a fact.

But the fact remains—if you can afford a new car, you can own a Buick—so let's see what you get.

You get the thrilling power of a Fireball 8 Engine, that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head—as much power as you can get in cars costing $300 to $400 more.

You get as much room as you'll get in cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

You get a ride that cost an honest-to-goodness million dollars to develop.

You get big-car comfort, styling, durability.

Don't take our word for it. Come in and see for yourself why so many folks are stepping up to this great car this year.

*Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

Junior Cotillion time for Arlington's seventh and eighth graders is drawing near with registration coming up this Friday evening from 7 to 9 p.m. It will take place in the studios of Delores Eiler School of Dancing, 10 W. Campbell.

Junior Cotillion is much more than just ballroom dancing lessons, and it is also considerably more than simply a series of dances. The $9.50 membership gives the youngsters 10 hours of instruction plus five dances throughout the year. The instruction is on a business-like basis, and the dances are definitely party affairs with favors, refreshments, a contest and even an orchestra.

For instruction at the Eiler school studios—where the group's instructor, Mrs. Muriel Mills, is a member of the staff—the boys and girls are divided into seventh graders and both beginning and advanced eighth graders. Classes will begin this year September 19.

The five dances will be held at the field house, and the young folks may expect exciting evenings similar to those held last year. Punch or bottled soft drinks will be served, an orchestra will again play, and there'll be more contests. Individual prizes were awarded last year at each dance to the outstanding dancers in each age group with "winner of winners" receiving a gold cup at the final dance of the year. A similar program will be followed this year.

Junior Cotillion is directed by a group of mothers and the membership, priced at $9.50 to include everything, is open to all seventh and eighth graders in Arlington.

Cotillion officers, together with Mrs. Mills, will be on hand Friday night at the studios to answer questions about the program. This year no new registrants will be accepted throughout the year once the classes are filled.

Miss Ace-Hi

Another queen has been chosen from among the attractive girls in Arlington Heights. Martha Schaefer, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Schaefer, was named "Miss Ace-Hi" in a recent Prince Castle contest.

Miss Schaefer was selected from among 150 contestants, five of whom were given various titles.

In the Air

The smell of autumn, it seems, will really be in the air this Friday night when the football season at Arlington high gets underway. It'll be a non-conference game, with both the frosh-sophs and varsity teams playing Barrington.

Game time for the frosh-soph competition is 6:15 p.m. with the varsity following. Season tickets for reserved seats are still available, priced at $5 for the five home games (individual admission is $1.25). General admission is $1 for each game.

Dist. 26 Building Program Delayed By Loss Of Assessed Valuation

Feehanville has valuation troubles. The loss of previous assessed valuation has killed the sale of school bonds. The board is reluctant to accept the suggestion that they issue bonds to their new limit and place the district in hock by the issuance of tax anticipation warrants that may require a number of years to "work out."

The board is firm in its determination to build a modern school building that will suffice for the next few years. They are opposed to cutting off any part of the building which would have to be added within the next three years.

The school patrons appear to agree with them in this matter, which encourages the board to sit tight and keep their fingers crossed in hopes that new assessed valuation will spring up from somewhere.

The present school building comprises two rooms and is accommodating 66 pupils. Twenty additional pupils of the 6th, 7th and 8th grades are attending the Prospect Heights schools.

The interior of the building has been entirely redecorated in light cheerful colors. Asphalt tile has been laid in the basement.

Plan Federal Savings And Loan Association At Arlington Heights

When the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in Washington set the date of October 9 for a hearing upon the application for permission to organize a Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n group in Arlington Heights, it meant that the many months of planning by a group of Arlington Heights citizens might soon reach a successful conclusion.

"There is no question as to the need for such an organization in this community," says Charles H. Wilson, local realtor. "During the past twelve months it is estimated that more than $3,000,000 in home loans were made in this area, while only a small fraction of this amount was financed by local establishments.

"A Federal Savings & Loan Ass'n in Arlington Heights would provide for a sound and economical financing of homes in this district, with all the conveniences and personal relationships that a local concern can offer.

"It would provide a convenient and safe method for the residents of this community to save and invest their money. Investment accounts are insured by the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corp. to the amount of $10,000 for each individual account. That security, combined with dividends on investments of an estimated 2½% per annum, will both encourage and reward a program of systematic savings."

If the charter is granted it is expected that the association will be ready to begin operations on January 1, 1953. A location is under consideration that will be in the central section of Arlington Heights, convenient to the commuting public as well as to the shoppers and businessmen of the village, and with good parking facilities for motorists.

Kiwanis Announces Kids' Day Committee

The Arlington Heights Kiwanis club has announced formation of the club committee which will spearhead all activities for the celebration of Kids' day Saturday, Sept. 27.

Al Lindemann, president of the local service organization, said the newly appointed committee chairmen are Robert Bishop and W. Jack Wiese.

Other committee members are George Harris, Gerry Griffin and Paul Taege.

All funds raised in a drive to be conducted in conjunction with the Kids' day observance will stay in the village. The money will be used to sponsor a Little League baseball team and other local youth sports activities.

Complete plans for the Kids' day celebration, including fund-raising, will be announced within the next week or ten days.

Commuters Organize for Better Service and Lower Fares

The Commuters Association of Chicagoland has been granted a charter under the "Not for Profit Act." Its purpose, as stated in its charter is: "To promote on behalf of citizens and commuters better traveling conditions in any manner whatsoever, and to do any and all acts necessary to further said purpose and object."

The association plans to take into its membership commuters on all railroads entering Chicago, as the problems are similar. It urges all commuters to join this organization at once from Nazareth Academy, La in order that immediate action can be taken to prevent further increase in fares, as well as to obtain better service.

President Geo. L. Ekern says, "For instance, the C. & N. W. Ry. is asking for an increase of 38%, because it claims to be losing money on the present rate. On the other hand, many Northwestern commuters feel that a reduction in fares should be in order for the service they receive. Three increases in fares have been granted them within recent years, and no noticeable improvement in service or equipment has been given in return. The railroad is still using old dilapidated cars with leaky roofs, torn and broken seats, rotted and dirty handles, unclean windows, unusable toilets and no drinking water available except in private cars."

Elk Grove School Opens; 233 Pupils, 10 Teachers

Elk Grove community consolidated school opened its doors last week with 254 students enrolled and 10 teaches on the staff.

R. C. Winkle, principal, said they were able to use the four classrooms in the new addition, though there are still many finishing touches to be done before the addition is completed. The new wing is occupied by the first four grades.

The teachers and their classes are, left to right: First row — Mrs. Mary Sullivan, second grade, 21 students; Mrs. Shirley Grosche, fifth, 33; Mrs. Sandra Balson, seventh and eighth (overflow), 14; Mrs. Arleta DiPaolo, first, 32; and R. C. Winkle, principal, seventh and eighth, 30. Second row: John Hayes, sixth, 29; Mrs. Norma Snapp, third, 27; Mrs. Tena Allison, third and fourth, 23; Miss Barbara Swanson, fourth, 23; and Mrs. Phyllis Snetsinger, music, all grades.

The weatherman has been kind this week to the pupils of the Palatine sixth grade who are spending one week out-of-doors in cabins at Camp Reinberg. The bottom picture shows the girls of one cabin who are enjoying their rest period which follows lunch. They are, left to right, Lucile Donahoe, Frank Arbuckle, Beverly Thompson, Ruth Ann Keck, Maria Schaefer, Kathie Plumhoff, Margie Waddell. The other shows Supt. Jordan and a group that are about to take a nature study tour. "We wish we had two weeks," say the boys and girls. The instructors are enjoying the week as much as the children.

According to all reports many women have been waiting for the annual Dorothy Gray sale at Arlington Heights Pharmacy, so I advise you to stop there first when you're out shopping today. I got my winter's supply of her dry-skin cleanser cream (683), ordinarily $2.25, now just $1.25. The larger $4 size is now $2.25. This cream contains double beaten emollient oils for added cleansing and softening efficiency. Three other Dorothy Gray products are also being offered during this special limited offer at the Pharmacy. The regular $2.25 jar of cold cream is $1.25.

Her texture lotion, which enhances the natural beauty of the skin, is made for dry, combination or oily skin and aids in removing clogging dirt . . . $2 size, now $1 . . . $3 bottle, $1.85. For thin, sensitive, dry skin there's the orange flower skin lotion priced the same as the texture lotion. The skin lotion helps to clear, brighten and keep the skin fresh and glowing.

Dorothy Kestner Is Bride of Robert Brey

Miss Dorothy Mae Kestner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kestner, 800 S. Beverly lane, Arlington Heights, became the bride of Robert G. Brey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Brey of Chicago, September 6.

Rev. Jesse E. Thorsen officiated at the ceremony held at Our Savior's English Lutheran church, Chicago, at 4 p. m. "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" provided the traditional wedding music.

The bride wore an ivory satin gown fashioned with panel insets of chantilly lace. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a cap trimmed with seed pearl, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias.

Miss Lois June Kestner, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a lime green ballerina length gown and carried a bouquet of three large yellow mums surrounded by bronze mums.

Miss Winifred Joanne Kestner and Miss Arlene Lauretta Krischke, bridesmaids, wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor. Miss Judith Pfeiffer, the flower girl, wore a gown of champagne net over taffeta and carried a basket of rose petals.

John Brey, brother of the groom, was the best man. Neal Sutton and Richard Bjorgo were the ushers.

Norman Falkanger Jr. Weds Chicago Girl

Before an altar banked with baskets of white gladioli Miss Liane S. Robertson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Robertson of Chicago, became the bride of Norman S. Falkanger Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman S. Falkanger Sr., 405 Hi Lusi, Mt. Prospect.

The ceremony, performed by Rev. Edward Henninger, took place September 6 at 2 p. m. at Grace church, Chicago. Raymond Hentschel sang "Because" and "Ave Maria."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white chantilly lace over white satin and net fashioned with a large hoop skirt. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a Juliet cap, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids surrounded by stephanotis.

Mrs. Gilbert Morava was the matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length gown of rust nylon net and carried a bouquet of yellow and rust baby mums.

The Misses Jo Anna Falkanger and Carol Delasandro were the bridesmaids. They wore ballerina length gowns of yellow nylon net and carried bouquets of rust and yellow baby mums.

The bride's mother wore a cocktail dress with a matching bolero of olive green silk taffeta trimmed with irridescent bead embroidery. A pink camellia completed her outfit. The mother of the groom wore a cocktail dress of mauve silk shantung and a white camellia corsage.

A reception for 225 guests was held at the Chicago Norske Klub. Twenty-five guests attended the bridal party dinner at 5:30 p. m. at the Normendennes club in Chicago.

Following a honeymoon in Colorado the couple will make their home at 1621 Columbia ave., Chicago.

Mixed Chorus Organizes in Northwest Area

Forty-six men and women of the northwest area are joining their voices in the formation of a new mexed chorus. This group meets at the home of Mrs. Neal Dean, 114 S. Greenwood ave., Palatine.

The group is looking for a name that describes its make-up and purposes. The chorus will sing both sacred and secular music, much of it in eight parts.

In spite of the large number of members there are still some vacancies to be filled, especially in the alto, tenor and bass sections.

Anyone interested in joining the group is asked to call Mrs. Dean at Palatine 436-J. (B-4

AAUW to Meet, Invites College Women to Join

The northwest suburban branch of the American Association of University Women invites all college women in the northwest suburban area to attend the first meeting of the year at 8 p. m. September 18, at St. Martin's Episcopal church, Des Plaines. Those who wish information concerning requirements for membership may call Mrs. E. L. Wilson at Cl. 3-1201.

AAUW is an educational organization built by pioneers in the field of women's education. It has grown from 17 young women in 1881 to more than 120,000 members — all college trained — in 1952.

The northwest suburban branch, only five years old, has seen similar growth — from a handful of enthusiastic women to a membership of more than 100. It's prominence in the community is recognized by the group's active interest in civic affairs and it's participation in education at all levels.

When the members meet September 18 at St. Martin's Episcopal church in Des Plaines, they will discuss and vote as a group on the proposed amendments to the State of Illinois constitution. Also, movies taken at the summer school for children of migrant Mexican farm workers will be shown. Co-chairmen for the meeting are Mrs. A. L. Wells and Mrs. Tony Kuzich. (B-4

Presidents of Garden Clubs to Meet

The Mayfair room of the Blackstone hotel, Chicago, will be the site September 22 at 12:30 p. m. of the annual presidents' council of the Garden Club of Illinois, which will officially open the season. The council brings together the presidents of affiliated clubs throughout the state.

Each president has the privilege of bringing four members of her club. More than 300 women are expected at the luncheon. Mrs. John Jones Sharon of Glenview, president of the Garden Club of Illinois, will preside at the meeting.

Plans for the Garden Club of Illinois' fifteenth annual Flower Show school will be announced by Mrs. H. J. Bluhm of La Grange, chairman. The school will be held October 22 and 23 in Fullerton Hall of the Art Institute of Chicago, and October 24 in the Grand Ball Room of the Palmer House.

Jean Brinkman and Earl Schinkowsky Wed

Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran church, Palatine, was the scene September 6 of the wedding of Miss Jean Brinkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Brinkman of Rohlwing rd., Palatine, and Earl Schinkowsky, son of Walter Schinkowsky of 315 W. Johnson st., Palatine.

Rev. Hilmar Th. Rosenberg officiated at the 7:30 p. m. ceremony. Baskets of gladioli, mums and palms decorated the church. Dick Kroeger of Elgin sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Because," accompanied by Paul Leimer at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown trimmed with nylon tulle and chantilly lace fashioned with an illusion neckline. Her net fingertip length veil was held in place by a heart shaped headpiece trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of mums and stephanotis with a white orchid center.

Miss Joyce Brinkman, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. She wore a coral satin gown trimmed with nylon tulle and chantilly lace and fashioned identical to that of the bride. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow mums.

Miss Vernette Schinkowsky, sister of the groom, Mrs. Hazel Brinkman, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Joan Brinkman, cousin of the bride, were the bridesmaids. Their powder blue satin gowns were identical to that of the bride, and they carried bouquets of coral mums.

Community Camera

Miss Bonnie Jean Brinkman, two-year-old niece of the bride, was the flower girl, and she wore a yellow satin gown and carried a basket of coral mums. Alan Schinkowsky, five-year-old brother of the groom, was the ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Brinkman chose a golden brown lace dress with dark brown accessories. An orchid corsage completed her ensemble.

Peter Philippe of Paducah, Ky., was the best man. George Schwartz, August Reuter and Clarence Brinkman Jr., brother of the bride, were the ushers.

The bridal dinner for 18 guests was given September 5 at the home of the bride's parents. The wedding reception was held immediately following the ceremony at Fred's Community hall on Rand rd. for 450 guests.

The couple are honeymooning in Canada, Niagara Falls, New York City and Washington, D. C. They will make their home at 18 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights.

Richard Pepper and Roxelyn Miller Marry

In a single ring ceremony at the First Congregational church at Wilmette, Miss Roxelyn Miller, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James Roscoe Miller of 2870 Sheridan pl., Evanston, became the bride of Richard Stanley Pepper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley F. Pepper of Inverness Countryside, Palatine.

Rev. Ross Cannon performed the ceremony September 6 at 4 p. m. White chrysanthemums and gladioli decorated the altar, and Mr. Edgren was the organist.

Attending the bride were her sister, Miss Jacquelyn Miller, maid of honor, Mrs. Leonard Golan of Evanston, a sister of the groom, Miss Marilyn Dunkelberg of Pekin, and Miss Lois Siegel of Wilmette.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore gold nylon net gowns fashioned with matching satin jackets and carried bouquets of fall shaded gladioli with brown leaves.

Ciney Rich of Decatur, Northwestern football star, was best man. Leonard Golan of Evanston, Ronald Baumgartner of Naperville and George Bodeen of Evanston were the ushers.

A reception for 300 guests was held immediately following the ceremony on the grounds of the Miller home in Evanston.

Following a honeymoon in Sea Island, Ga., the couple will make their home in an apartment in Evanston.

The bride, a senior in the school of speech at Northwestern, and the groom, a senior in engineering at the university, will return to complete work for their degrees.

Presenting the Younger Generation

There is most always a smile on the face of little Jerry Withey, pictured first in today's representation of little folks. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Withey of 540 S. Highland, Arlington Heights.

"Jerry is a happy little fellow," said Mrs. Withey. He enjoys playing with his cars and next door playmate, Debby Harth. Three and one-half years old and blond and blue-eyed, Jerry is the youngest member of the Withey family. Next in line is Candace, 6, a first grader, Susan, 9, a fourth grader, and Mark, 11, a sixth grader. They all attend the South school.

Grandparents of the children are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hippe of Edgerton, Wis., Mark Withey Sr. of Warrenville, Ill., and Mrs. Hattie Withey of LaGrange, Ill.

One-third of the Goodmans

If Carol, Charles and Patsy Goodman could speak right out of this page we're certain they would tell us of all the fun and excitement that occurs in a family of nine.

Not pictured are three brothers and a sister: George, 11, fifth grade at the North school, Bobby, 12, seventh grade at the South school, Mabel, 14, freshman at the high school, and Kenneth, 16, a junior at the high school. Parents of the children are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth E. Goodman of 801 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights.

Carol, first in the group, is 6 years old and has blonde hair and blue eyes. Baby brother, Charles, is a blond and blue-eyed 2½ year old. Patsy is 5 years old and has dark brown hair and blue eyes. "The children love sports," said their mother, "and especially swimming this summer." They have two new puppies which absorb a lot of their attention just now.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Goodman of Palatine are their only grandparents.

Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

Ever since the first smorgasbord was sponsored by St. Peter Lutheran Mothers' club ten or eleven years ago, Mrs. William Gronert Jr. of 2012 E. Euclid ave., Arlington Heights, has brought her tasty Swedish Meat Balls to the affair.

This year the festive event will be held in St. Peter's new ativities building September 26. Although baked ham will be the main attraction, Swedish Meat Balls are always an important feature of every authentic smorgasbord.

Mrs. Gronert, who has a reputation as a good cook, is sharing with us today her recipe for this flavorful dish.

Containing ground beef, bread crumbs, milk, egg and onion, these meat balls are spiced with pepper, ginger, nutmeg and allspice. They are rolled in flour and browned in shortening.

A gravy is then made and the meat balls are simmered in this gravy for 15 to 20 minutes. This recipe makes four to six servings.

A charter member of St. Peter Mothers' club, Mrs. Gronert is the mother of four children: Kenneth, a corporal in the marines, Ruth Lois, who is in nurses' training; Donald, a high school student, and Audrey, who is a student at St. Peter school.

Swedish Meat Balls

1 lb. ground beef
½ cup dried bread crumbs
½ cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 small onion, chopped fine
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ tsp. ginger
¼ tsp. nutmeg
¼ tsp. allspice

Mix all of the ingredients together and shape into small balls, one inch in diameter. Roll in ¼ cup flour and brown in 2 tablespoons shortening.

When brown, remove from pan and pour off drippings. Measure back into the pan 2 tablespoons of the drippings and add 2 tablespoons flour. Stir until smooth. Gradually add 2 cups water, stirring until thick.

Return meatballs to gravy, cover pan and simmer for 15 to 20 minutes. Season gravy to taste. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Local Women Receive District Legion Posts

Mrs. Richard Murphy, Chicago, will be installed as director of the Ninth District American Legion Auxiliary Sept. 18. The ceremony, at which northwest area residents will also officially be installed into office, will be held at Kelvyn Park field house, Wrightwood and Kostner aves.

At this time Mrs. George Anthony, Mt. Prospect unit, will be installed as sergeant-at-arms. Chairmen who will assist Mrs. Murphy with the district program during the year include Mrs. Joseph Wisersky, Arlington Heights unit, revision and by-laws.

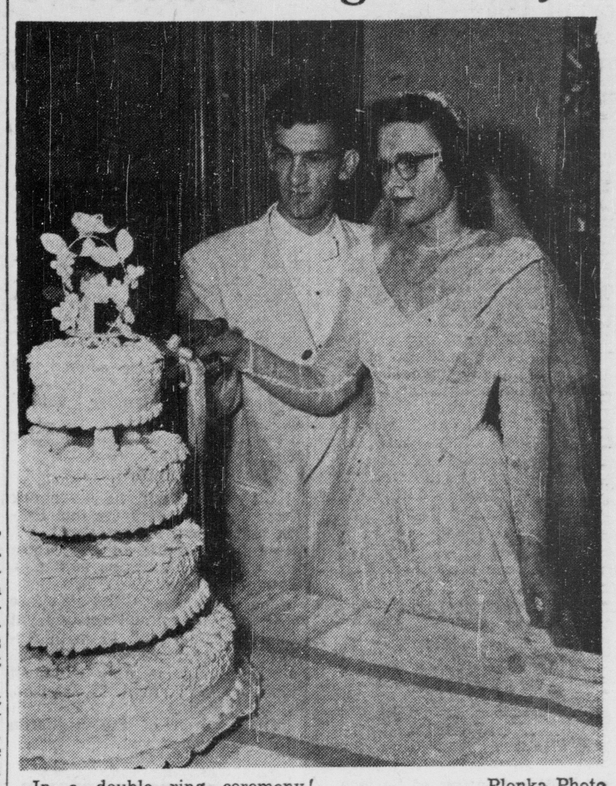
A reception will be held immediately following the installation. Members of Kelvyn Park unit will be hostesses.

Harvest Festival

St. Matthew's Lutheran church of East Maine, Milwaukee ave. north of Ballard rd., will hold its annual harvest festival Sept. 14 in the afternoon and evening.

Supper will be served by the Ladies' Aid and will begin at 5 p. m.

Jean Scharringhausen And Fred Vogt Marry



Plonka Photo

In a double ring ceremony August 31, Miss Jean Scharringhausen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scharringhausen of Arlington Heights, became the bride of Fred Vogt, son of Mrs. Emma Vogt of Palatine.

Rev. William F. Kamphenkel officiated at the ceremony held at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, Arlington Heights, at 4 p. m. Mrs. Fred Blohm and Mrs. Ralph Potts sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Fred Buehler at the organ. Baskets of white gladioli and red rose buds decorated the altar.

The bride wore a gown of white nylon tulle and lace fashioned with a long train. Her fingertip length veil was held in place by a lace skull cap, and she carried a bouquet of white stephanotis and amazon lilies.

Mrs. Joanne Prate of Palatine, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Lois Duwe of Arlington Heights, cousin of the bride, were the bridesmaids. Their aqua gowns were fashioned in the same manner as that of the maid of honor. Cindy Lou Potts of Arlington Heights, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. Her gown was identical to that of the maid of honor.

Clarence and James Vogt of Palatine, brothers of the groom, and Allen Blohm, of Arlington Heights, cousin of the bride, were the ushers.

Nancy Mathein and Donald Mortinson Wed

Miss Nancy Mathein became the bride of Donald Mortinson, both of Northbrook, August 30, in a double ring ceremony. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. Charles Haefner at 10 a.m. in St. Norbert's church.

The bride wore a gown of ivory nylon tulle over taffeta with a train. French lace adorned the bodice and continued down to the hemline. An illusion fingertip veil fell from a lattice cap studded with pearls. She carried a bouquet of ivory-white bud roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Albert G. Nemmer, the bride's sister, wore a floor-length gown of bud green nylon tulle over taffeta with a bud green lattice cap and carried a colonial bouquet of coral roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Lois Mortinson, sister of the groom, wore a floor-length gown of coral and gray nylon tulle over taffeta. Her lattice cap matched her gown and she also carried a colonial bouquet of coral roses.

Both mothers were dressed in navy blue and wore corsages of petal-pink camelias.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mathein Sr., were hosts to more than 100 guests at a wedding breakfast in the Colonial Homestead, Morton Grove.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Mortinson are driving to Colorado on their honeymoon. They expect to be back in Northbrook about September 19, at which time Mr. Mortinson reports back to Fort Sheridan where he will be discharged from the army sometime in November.

PTA District To Meet September 18

Mrs. Martin H. Seifert of Wilmette, newly elected director of district 21 of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, has arranged for the annual conference to be held at Glenview Community church Sept. 18 from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m.

Participating in the conference will be delegates from 69 schools which lie within the area of Cook county, north of the Chicago city limits, through part of Lake county as far north as Lake Forest and west through Barrington.

Mrs. Thomas H. Ludlow, president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, Mrs. Arthur A. Walldin, state PTA chairman of safety; Mrs. Isaac A. Loose, state PTA chairman of legislation, and Mrs. Roy W. Ide Jr., state PTA chairman of parent education, will be the featured speakers. The program is planned to instruct and inspire the delegates in their work for the coming year.

The theme for the conference, "Know Why—Know How," will be developed through a symposium, "Know Why" in the morning session.

Following a luncheon served by the ladies of the Glenview Community church the delegates will attend workshops on programming, safety, legislation and parent education to further develop the subject of "Know How" in these areas.

Miss C. Cook, Clifford Bein Wed Recently

In a double ring ceremony September 3, Miss Constance Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Cook of Chicago, former residents of Mt. Prospect, became the bride of S/Sgt. Clifford Albert Bein of Kelly Air Base, San Antonio, Texas, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bein Sr. of Palatine.

St. Rose church, San Antonio, was the scene of the 3 p. m. ceremony.

Miss Blanche Bein, sister of the groom, who visited in San Antonio for two weeks, was the maid of honor. She wore a light brown suit and a corsage of red roses.

3/c William Hafnar was the best man.

The groom served overseas for 37 months and has two more years to serve. He has been in the service for four years, and the couple will make their home in San Antonio.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

Spiritual understanding or true knowledge, equips man with divine power, enabling him to meet his human needs. This will be explained in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, September 14. The title of the Lesson-Sermon will be SUBSTANCE.

The Golden Text is from Hebrews (11: 1) "Faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."

Lesson-Sermon passages from the Bible (King James Version) include:

"My son, if thou wilt receive my words, and hide my commandments with thee; So that thou incline thine ear unto wisdom, and apply thine heart to understanding . . . Then shalt thou understand the fear of the Lord, and find the knowledge of God" (Prov. 2: 1, 2, 5).

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, include:

"Spiritual understanding unfolds Mind,—Life, Truth, and Love,—and demonstrates the divine sense, giving the spiritual proof of the universe in Christian Science. This understanding is not intellectual, is not the result of scholarly attainments; it is the reality of all things brought to light" (p. 505).

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

Whittaker Chambers tells us that when he left the Communist Party, he and his wife had the definite feeling that they were deserting to the losing side, but they had no other hope of finding some small oasis of justice and honesty and love. The years from desertion to The Case (as he always writes it) must be understood in terms of mysticism and action as experienced in the Society of Friends.

It is Chambers' experience of religious faith which has troubled and tormented his reviewers more than any other aspect of his person. One reason may be that we have forgotten the extent to which the Quakers have influenced the unconscious traditions of our country. The Friends tend to disregard the effect of religious tradition and to think almost solely of the individual experience of God.

GOD SPEAKS, to a Friend, "to my condition;" his response is to "have a concern." This is a left-wing view of religion, extremely individualistic in contrast to the right-wing of hierarchial religion. It is the kind of view which enables one to tackle any task regardless of the opposition, because it is his duty to "witness" and not necessarily triumph.

The role of a martyr is a hard one, and no one willingly seeks it out. It was not a martyr-complex which caused Chambers to wait nine years before pulling down, in Samson-like fashion, the comfortable life he had built for himself during those years.

Chambers did not make a career of ex-Communism; if I should come to a third column on "witness," I may try to suggest why he did not. The import of his own religious experience was such that he did his penance by trying to overcome the fault of the past rather than by denouncing the friends of the past. He claims to have gone to Hiss and begged him to denounce Communism with him; he asserts that the withholding of the famous "pumpkin" microfilms was an effort to protect Hiss from espionage charges.

THE MYSTICAL experience is a hard thing for the most of us to appreciate. He had his commission from the Lord, and he was singularly unimpressed by the claims of the law or the personal effect upon himself. Unless you have appreciated the religious zeal with which George Fox unabashedly kept his hat on in the presence of the King of England who could remove his head, you cannot grasp this sense of direct communication with the Almighty.

It is the touchstone of his experience. At the same time, it produces that element which affronts many readers. For his intense personal confessions are foreign to our behavioral standards. Few of us talk about our religious experience, and not all who talk are mystics.

The gravest danger of the mystic is that his perceptions of God's will are not always subjected to the criticism of the religious community and may, for that reason, lack objectivity. But the mystical experience is a valid experience, and we should be indebted to Whittaker Chambers that he has recorded it in such frank and convincing fashion to a culture that has forgotten religious heritage and personal responsibility to the extent that we have.

The Art of Appreciating Art

Chicago, Ill . . . The statement—"I don't know anything about art, I just know what I like," marks the maker as a schmuck in the patronizing, slightly contemptuous view of art circles. Personally, being untutored in the art of appreciating art, I am one of the leading schmucks of my time.

I can take the Old Masters or leave 'em alone. I once made one of those guided tours in Paris, which included the Louvre. The guide took us through on the dead run. Saw hundreds of Old Masters as our party sped through the famous, old halls. I even caught, between gasps for breath, snatches of our guide's spiel, which, when I paid my contemptible yankee dough, I hoped would inspire in me an appreciation of the aesthetic values of art. I was inspired all right—with an intense desire to sit down and rest. But we passed a lot of Van Goghs, Rubens, Botticellis, Rembrandts and Raphaels. Looked to me like a somber lot. And those hefty damsels they painted may have been the rage in those days, but my taste runs more to Elizabeth Taylor.

However, schmuck that I am, I'm willing to accept the art authorities' opinions on the subject of Old Masters. But, I draw the line at modern art. Dali, the expressionists and their ilk, leave me cold as ice cubists. And frankly, considering the various hoaxes that have been perpetrated on the alleged experts on modern art, I'll bet that even they are secretly aghast at this monster loose in our innocent midst. Consider the wounded feelings of the experts when a "picture" which had been awarded first prize in a London exhibit of modern art, turned out to have been "painted" by a scoffer who allowed his kitten to play on a canvas on which had been dumped some egg yolks and melted tar.

An incident of this kind must make a man, who takes his art seriously, wish he had taken up plumbing instead.

I don't know what to do now. I've tried to cultivate my mind but with little success. Guess I'll just have to go on being naive and artless.

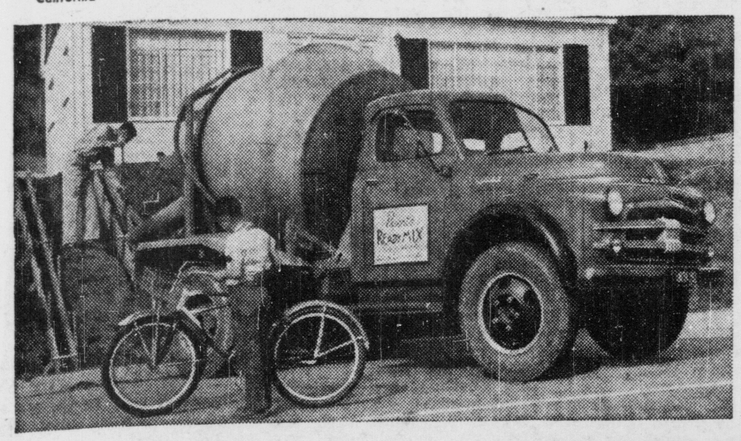
...says A. Keuning, Pres., Puente Ready Mix, Inc., Puente, California

"We use four Dodge 'Job-Rated' trucks in our operation—and Dodge power really puts out the work at low cost! Most of our work is off the highway over mud holes, ditches, and sloppy ground. But that means nothing to a Dodge, because Dodge power pulls us through anything!

"A Dodge truck doesn't 'two-bits you to death' either. Rarely do we have any maintenance expense and when we do, it's legitimate wear and tear we can reasonably expect. Our Dodge trucks are ready to go 365 days a year!"



- There's a Dodge truck—½- through 4-ton—that fits your job.
- Dependable performance with ample power is assured by features like high-capacity fuel pump and two fuel filters.
- High-efficiency fuel systems on all 8 engines save gas. Heavier models offer twin carburetion and exhaust system.
- For extra-smooth, wear-saving power, you can get gyrol Fluid Drive on ½-, ¾-, 1-ton, and Route-Van models.
- See us today for a demonstration.

Power with economy! Powerful Dodge engines have compression ratios as high as 7.0 to 1. Dodge economy features like lightweight aluminum-alloy pistons help keep operating costs low.

Power with low upkeep! Dodge engines save on maintenance . . . keep your truck on the job. You get such famous Dodge advantages as exhaust valve seat inserts and chrome-plated top piston rings.

Power with long life! The Dodge truck you choose will be right for your job in every way. Deep frames, extra-sturdy axles and high-capacity springs are just a few of many long-life features.

Pastel Roofing Newest Idea In Exterior Color for Home

Roof shingles in soft pastel colors are the most recent advance in the trend toward making home exteriors more beautiful.

These new pastels aid in imaginative decoration of the outside of a house. They extend the ways in which color can be used to make a home more expressive of the group personality of the family that occupies it.

Among the most popular pastels are red, green, and blue — colors that have been leaders among the more conventional hues. Both ranges of color are supplied in asphalt shingles, the kind of roofing material used on four-fifths of all the new houses being built.

ASPHALT shingle pastels are subtle and neutral. They are grayed very slightly when the pigments are mixed. This adds body and strength. There is no trace of weakness or "bon-bon" delicacy in the color.

Pastel roofing is well suited to the low, one-story house—popularly called "ranch house"—that is typical of contemporary, small home architecture.

Although any pitched roof is an important factor in the appearance of the house it covers, with a small home the visual impact of the roof increases.

A low roof near to the ground is close to the direct line of vision of an observer. It is so prominent that its appearance plans a determining part in the appearance of the entire dwelling. No one who looks at the house can miss noticing the roof.

LIGHT COLORS have the psychological effect of creating an illusion of greater size. If all of the exterior of a small house is styled in light colors, the house will seem to be larger than it really is. Light-colored asphalt shingles on a roof tend to draw the eye upward, making the house appear taller.

Feehanville School

The first meeting of the PTA for this term will be held at Feehanville school, 8 p. m., Tuesday, Sept. 16. The officers ask that parents please note that the first meeting will be held Tuesday instead of Friday. It will be necessary to elect a new secretary and treasurer.

A membership and attendance drive for the PTA will also be initiated. It is planned to have a prize for each room for the best attendance and the most members from each room.

The Dessert Basket is now being passed around. Anyone who hasn't already received a big box with a pie, cake, cookies or some other baked-dish in it, will receive it shortly. The basket also contains a jar into which the recipient puts the amount he wants to pay for the dish he receives, before baking another dish and passing it on to the next name on the list.

By the time this article is published, school will have started and the students will know the time of the bus schedule and their pick-up stops.

At the registration, held Sept. 3, 34 students were registered in 1st and 2nd grades in Miss Ruud's room and 32 in Mrs. Caveffe's room. Together with the students from this district attending Prospect Heights, there are nearly 90 students in Feehanville school this year.

The delay in opening school was due to the fact the painters had not completed the decorating. Light, cheerful colors have been used throughout the school. This will be much more pleasant for both teachers and students and will make a big difference in the reflection of light on the blackboards.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Flink, Westgate and Central rds., and sons, Eric and Christopher, spent two hours with Ted Flink's sister, Catherine Nash, the well-known sculptress. Mrs. Nash, enroute to New York City from her home in Lincoln, Neb., where she is head of the Sculpture Department of the University of Nebraska, had a stop-over between planes. After a few days in New York City, Mrs. Nash will board a plane bound for Italy where she will attend a conference of artists. Forty-seven well-known artists from various sections of the country will represent the United States at the conference.

During the month which Catherine Nash will be gone she expects to visit several countries, including France and Sweden, where she will visit relatives.

Elk Grove Community

Most of the work on the new building of Elk Grove school is complete. It is not only beautiful but practically arranged for educational purposes. Plans are under way for an open house but anyone is welcome to come and go through it before that time.

New teachers

The school has a total enrollment at the present time of 254 children, and a staff of ten teachers. They are:

Mrs. Arleta DiPaolo, a graduate of Northwestern university, taught at Amboy, Ill., and makes her home in Chicago.

Mrs. Mary Sullivan is teaching here her second year. She furthered her education this summer by attending the summer workshop conducted by Northern Illinois State Teachers' college. She lives in Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Norma Snap, a graduate of University of Illinois, taught at Yorkville, Ill., and makes her home in Arlington Heights.

Mrs. Shirley Grosche, a graduate of Northern Illinois State Teachers' college, taught in Chicago and lives in Arlington Hts.

G. John Hayes, a graduate of Northern Illinois State Teachers' college. He lives in Palatine.

Mrs. Sandra Balson, University of Illinois, taught in Baltimore, Md., and lives in Chicago.

Mrs. Phyllis Snetsinger, graduate of Northwestern university, who taught music last year, will again teach music half-days. She makes her home in Arlington Heights.

Robert Winkle, principal, graduate of Northern Illinois State Teachers' college spent his summer doing graduate work at DeKalb. He lives in Park Ridge.

Mrs. Tena Allison, is beginning her fourth year in our school. She furthered her education this summer by attending Pestalozzi. She makes her home in Wheeling.

Mothers' Club

The Mothers' club of Elk Grove held its first meeting, Thursday, September 11, at the school. Officers are as follows: Mrs. William Schnell, president; Mrs. Glen Pasvogel, vice-president; Mrs. P. Eichling, Jr., secretary, and Mrs. Roy Hightower, treasurer.

The next meeting will be held October 9, at 1:30 p. m. at the school. All mothers are urged to attend and become better acquainted with the teachers, the school, and each other.

Paper drive

The eighth grade is sponsoring a paper drive from September 18 to September 25. Please donate waste paper, books and magazines to the Elk Grove school. Anyone wishing to have their paper picked up should please call Bensenville 35-R-1.

Dianne Griefen celebrated her thirteenth birthday last Friday evening with a wiener roast. A group of young people from the Methodist choir and the MYF attended.

Happy birthday to Susan Schanmier who was five years old September 5. She celebrated with a party September 6.

ARE YOU MAKING THIS MISTAKE?

Placing all your heavy pieces in one end of the room? A room is said to be "out of balance" unless each large piece of furniture is complemented by an object or group of comparable size and weight to offset it. Too many upholstered pieces in a group tend to create a stuffy feeling . . . make a room appear lop-sided.

YOUR ROOM WILL LOOK BETTER IF YOU . . .

. . . distribute the heavy pieces equally in different areas . . . and balance high spots such as tall windows and massive doors by placing a tall bookcase or secretary opposite them. A pair of chairs with a table between will usually be the best offset for a large sofa. Each piece of furniture in any group should be related to the others in character, function, size and color.

It will be our pleasure to help you make unhurried selections from our wide assortment of fine furnishings. Come in . . . anytime.

Campus Capers

At Lawrence

Carol Kirkeby, 511 S. Elmhurst, Mt. Prospect, has been admitted to Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., and will report on the campus for a week of orientation September 18. When classes begin September 25 it will mark the start of the school's 106th season.

At MacMurray

Miss Mary Jane Utterback, daughter of Fred C. Utterback, 116 S. Pine ave., and Miss Priscilla Ann Brif, both graduates of Arlington Heights township high school with the class of 1952, plan to attend MacMurray college for women in Jacksonville, Ill. Miss Brif's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Brif, 209 W. Wing st., Arlington Hts.

While in high school Miss Brif was a member of the card, handicraft, French and girls' clubs and was on the school paper staff. Miss Utterback took an active interest in twirling, girls' chorus and knitting club. Both girls were members of G.A.A.

At MacMurray college, founded in 1846, Miss Brif will work toward a degree in art; Miss Utterback, home economics.

Miss Brif and Miss Utterback will join the other girls on MacMurray campus when the fall term opens Sept. 15.

At MacMurray

Miss Ruth Mary Rehling, a graduate of Arlington Heights township high school in 1952, plans to attend MacMurray college for women in Jacksonville, Ill. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Rehling, 316 George st., Mt. Prospect.

While in high school Miss Rehling was a member of choir, G.A.A. knitting, card and biology clubs and was on the business staff of the school paper.

At MacMurray college, founded in 1846, Miss Rehling will work toward a degree in English. This liberal arts school where she is enrolled has complete departments in music, science, art, drama, education, home economics, business administration and secretarial training and other professional fields.

At Illinois

Among 738 persons who earned degrees from the University of Illinois in the summer session recently completed are Thomas S. Willette, 54 N. Plum Grove, Palatine, BS, and Bernard G. DeWulf, 20 S. Prospect, Roselle, B. S.

The list of people completing work in the summer includes 268 getting bachelor's degrees and 470 receiving advanced degrees. There will be no summer commencement exercises for these people. Instead, their diplomas will be mailed to them.

Fall activities at Illinois begin Sept. 15 with freshman week. Classes start Sept. 22. For the University's Chicago Undergraduate Division on Navy Pier and calendar lists the orientation period for Sept. 3 and first classes for Sept. 15.

At Lawrence

Joan Bernthal, 1610 Brown st.; Nancy Emig, 1019 N. Highland; Betsy Jarrett, 1110 Clarendon rd.; and Joan Timmerman, Rte. 1, all Arlington Heights, have been admitted to Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., and will report on the campus for a week of orientation September 13. When classes begin September 25 it will mark the start of the school's 106th season.

A series of psychological and academic tests, conferences with deans and faculty advisors, and a long list of social activities make up the orientation week.

At DeKalb

Miss Dolores Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson of Quintens rd., Palatine, left Sunday for DeKalb State Teachers' college where she will enter her freshman year.

At Illinois Tech

Registration and orientation for new freshmen and transfer students at Illinois Institute of Technology will begin Monday, September 15, and run through Friday, September 19.

At Harvard

Bill North, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. North of 1310 Mayfair rd., Arlington Heights, entered law school at Harvard university this fall.

Presbyterian Women to Meet

The Women's Association of the First Prebyterian church of Arlington Heights will open its fall program with the annual communion and devotional service to be held in the sanctuary September 17.

Mrs. Robert Baron, spiritual life chairman, and Mrs. William Johnson, head of the program committee, are planning the meeting.

Preceeding the devotional service, a potluck luncheon will be served at 12:40 p. m. in the church dining room by circle 2. Mrs. LeRoy Knoeppel, chairman of circle 2, and Mrs. Arthur Martens, co-chairman, will be in charge of the luncheon and dessert will be furnished by circle 2 members.

Following the luncheon a brief business meeting will be held and committee reports will be read. Announcement will be made of the new social education and action committee and its chairman, Mrs. Sterling Ross, and its co-leader, Mrs. Tom Hildebrand, will be introduced.

The devotional service in the sanctuary will be planned around the scripture, "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in Him; and He shall bring it to pass," from Psalms 37:5. The Rev. C. Victor Brown, pastor, will conduct the meditation and communion service. A musical trio composed of Mrs. J. A. Zimmerman, Mrs. V. H. Beisler and Mrs. J. W. Webster will sing.

Mrs. Richard Lull will furnish organ music during the service. The annual medical missions offering will be taken at this time, and this year the money will be used for medical work in Europe and training nurses and aides in national missions hospitals.

A nursery under the direction of Mrs. Nicholas Mayer will be held at the church during the meeting. All children not in school are eligible.

Program for Guild Meeting

Mrs. Dean Currier, of Arlington Heights, known professionally as Ethel Wilson Currier, and Frances Frick, musician, are planning a program for the first fall meeting of the Evening guild of St. John's Episcopal church, Mount Prospect, which will be held in the Mt. Prospect village hall at 8 p. m., September 17.

The program will consist of excerpts from symphonies by Schumann and Brahms, accompanied by a commentary consisting of anecdotes about the composers from the book "Clara Schumann," a romantic biography by John Burke. The Schumanns were on intimate terms with the musicians of the period, and their home was often the gathering place for a most distinguished musical group.

Any newcomers wishing to attend this meeting and members who are in need of transportation are urged to call Mrs. Willard N. Nelson at Cl. 3-7350. Membership in the Guild is drawn from the towns of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Prospect Heights.

...T...mp to Discuss 'The PTA and You'

Tuesday, September 16, at 8 p. m., marks the first meeting of the 1952-53 season for the Arlington Heights Parent-Teacher association, to be held—as will all subsequent meetings — at the South school.

The theme for the year, as announced by Mrs. H. Lee Watson, chairman of the program committee, will be "Alert to Changing Times — American Family Alert," and the speaker for this meeting will be Dr. J. Lloyd Trump of the University of Illinois with the topic "The PTA and You."

* * *

DR. TRUMP is no stranger to PTA work, which is evidenced by the fact he is at present program chairman of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers, and formerly served as a vice-president of that organization. He is currently a professor of education and head of teacher placement at the University of Illinois, and has had a wide range of experience as teacher, principal and superintendent throughout the state.

Dr. Trump also has written and collaborated on several books in the field of education and has contributed numerous articles to professional magazines.

Mrs. Nat Burfeind, PTA president, will present the year's budget for approval by the membership and submit the recommendation of the executive board to purchase raincoats for patrol-boys of the new Dryden Place school, as well as needed replacements for the North and South schools, from funds in the organization's treasury.

The colors will be presented by the patrol boys of the Junior high school, and during the course of the evening the attending parents will have introduced to them the members of the board of education and the teaching staff. Rereshments will be served in the cafeteria.

DR. J. L. TRUMP

Delta Delta Delta Alumnae To Meet

The first fall meeting of the Chicago Northwest Suburban Alliance chapter of Delta Delta Delta will be held September 17 at the home of Mrs. Glenn P. Intermill, 5912 Nickerson, Chicago, promptly at 1:15 p. m.

Bridge Round Robin to Aid PTA Budget

By popular request the Arlington Heights Parent-Teacher association is inaugurating a Bridge Round Robin, to enable members (parents and teachers) to get better acquainted, and to help meet expenses on the PTA budget.

Schedules will be set up for two tables of bridge for both afternoon and evening meetings, enabling each couple to meet with three different couples once each month, and making it possible for couples to play in either or both schedules. There will be a different hostess for each meeting, which will give each couple an opportunity to entertain at least once in the schedule.

A RELUCTANT husband needn't stop a wife who enjoys a friendly game of bridge one evening a month in congenial company. She may choose a partner from the membership or procure help in getting teamed up with another member who is looking for a partner.

Theer will be a 50 cents per person entry fee, which will be used as prize money at the completion of the entire schedule. There will also be a 50 cents per person playing fee for each meeting, which will be collected by each hostess and sent to the Round Robin chairman. Uniform rules will be sent out with the playing schedule to each couple entering.

An enrty blank will be included in each September "Forward," the monthly PTA news bulletin, and additional information may be obtained by calling Mrs. G. A. Scott at Cl. 3-0277.

Variety of Foods To Draw Many To Smorgasbord

Mrs. Arthur Harting Jr., chairman of the ways and means committee of the Mothers' club of St. Peter's Lutheran school, Arlington Heights, has chosen Mrs. Arnold Scharringhausen as co-chairman to assist her in planning the twelfth annual smorgasbord sponsored by the club.

They are working in collaboration with Mrs. William Gronert, past chairman of the smorgasbord. Mrs. Alfred Sander is in charge of tickets. Last year 1,014 tickets were sold and Mrs. Sander is planning on an even larger attendance this year. Tickets are $1.25 for adults and 65 cents for children.

Featured on the menu will be baked ham, Swedish meat balls, meat loaf, scalloped potatoes and casserole dishes as the main course plus spaghetti and meat balls, fish casseroles and cheese dishes.

There will be tossed and molded salads, potato and tuna fish salads, stuffed tomatoes and cole slaw, fruit salads and relishes.

Probably the most popular feature of the smorgasbord is the home-made cakes. The recipe for one of these cakes appeared in the Favorites for Flavors column last week and another will appear later in the month. Mrs. William Gronert's recipe for Swedish meat balls is being featured in this issue.

Episcopal Guild Makes Plans for Fall Activities

Mrs. J. Herbert Haynsworth, president of the Evening Guild of St. John's Episcopal church, Mt. Prospect, was hostess to the board of the guild September 5. Plans were made for the first fall meeting of the Evening guild, which will be held in the Mt. Prospect village hall at 8 p. m. September 17.

Any newcomers wishing to attend, and members who are in need of transportation, are urged to call Mrs. Willard N. Nelson at Cl. 3-7350. Membership in the guild is drawn from the towns of Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Hts.

In addition to a discussion of the forthcoming meeting, the board considered other fall activities on the guild calendar. A get-acquainted potluck supper and square dance to welcome new members of St. John's is scheduled for October 18 at the Arlington Heights field house. And of course, there is the Thanksgiving ball set for November 18 at the Elmhurst Country club.

After the meeting Mrs. Haynsworth served refreshments to the following ladies: Mrs. R. C. DeZur, Mrs. Ralph Van Middlesworth, Mrs. Randolph C. Neely, Mrs. Willard N. Nelson, Mrs. Kenneth W. Olsen, Mrs. Robert Paddock, Mrs. Frederick J. Reinking and Mrs. Robert A. Waters. (AM

Music Group Announces StudyProgram

MRS. GALE BLOCKI JR.

The chairman of another of the popular study groups of the Arlington Heights Woman's club, Mrs. Gale Blocki Jr., has announced the completed program plans of the music study group for the coming club season. Mrs. Blocki and her committee have assembled a diversified series of programs which should please all music lovers in the Woman's club.

The October meeting will offer helpful advice to mothers who find their children's interest in music and the attendant lessons lagging. Mrs. Edna Nelson Hanson, eminent music teacher from Chicago, will speak on "The Place of Music in Our Educational Program," supplying many pointers on how to keep a child interested in music.

The following month Mrs. Henry G. Doemland of Des Plaines will demonstrate "Bach for Fun" by playing a Bach fuge in C minor from "The Well-Tempered Clavichord." Mrs. Doemland is a former pupil of Mrs. Hanson's who also teaches and plays to illustrate how much enjoyment may be derived from understanding the composer's intentions, interpreting the music as she proceeds.

No Woman's club musical series would be complete without a program by the popular and gracious soprano, Mrs. Frank C. Carr, and her equally popular accompanist on this occasion will be Mrs. Richard Lull at the piano. Both Mrs. Carr and Mrs. Lull have entertained Arlington Heights Woman's club members in the past and continue to draw admiring audiences. Their program in February will consist of Easter music from other countries.

* * *

IN APRIL the music study group will meet with the art study group of the Woman's club for luncheon at the Kungsholm restaurant in Chicago, and all will attend a performance of the puppet opera which is the unique attraction of the Kungsholm. Recordings of the world's greatest opera stars accompany puppets performing famous operas in authentic costumes.

As secretary of the Community Concert association in Arlington Heights, Mrs. Blocki has played an important part for the past five years in bringing stellar musical performers to Arlington. Other members of the music study group serving under Mrs. Blocki are Mrs. Robert Barbour, Mrs. Richard Bronwell, Mrs. Robert Marsh and Mrs. Joe Grant, all music lovers.

'Squid' Sting

The squid, a new and powerful weapon against submarines, is being supplied to British destroyers and frigates. The device, until recently on the secret list, is a many-barrelled mortar firing underwater bombs capable of cracking the toughest submarine hull.

Nurses' Club To Meet

Arlington Heights Nurses' club will meet September 19 at 8 p. m. in the Methodist church parlors.

Hostesses will be Miss Margaret Johnston, Mrs. Peery Duderstadt, Mrs. Evrell Plank, Mrs. Frances Clem and Mrs. Edward Corcoran.

The nurses are reminded that all books for the quilt must be turned in at this meeting.

This handmade quilt, made by members of the Nurses' club, is on display at the Antique and Hobby Show at the Methodist church in Arlington Heights. It will again be on display at The Emerald Shop from September 12 to 19.

Vets Should Address Checks Differently

Veterans may now make their checks or money orders for government life insurance premiums payable to "veterans administration," Robert D. Beer.

Heretofore, checks and money orders had to be made payable to "the treasurer of the United States." As a result, many premium payments were sent to the treasury department rather than to the VA district or central office handling the insurance account.

Largest Bird

Ostriches—largest and most powerful of the flightless birds—have been kept in enclosures and "farmed" since 1857. Before that time plumes sold on the fashion markets in Europe and America were secured by hunting wild ostriches.

Redwings Lose Tourney Final; Last Game Sun.

The Arlington Redwings once again ran up against the keen edge of the Keane Boosters Sunday and came out on the short end, 7-3, ending local championship hopes for 1952. The Boosters bettered the Redwings three of four meetings this year.

A single, two walks and a home run clamped the lid on the Redwings at Recreation park, netting four scores in the fourth frame against Bill Stretton. The locals salvaged another run in the fifth but to no avail.

* * *

THE LOCALS drew first blood in the third inning. Bob Wille singled and went to second on a wild pitch. Art Scheiwe singled, scoring Wille. Stretton was hit by a pitched ball and Ray Meathe singled, scoring Scheiwe.

That was the end of it until the fifth when Stretton singled, Ray Meathe walked, and Gene Wasco was safe on a fielder's choice, Stretton being nabbed at third. Pete Groh was struck by a pitched ball, but Hal Stange and Connie Hernbrott flied out.

* * *

POOR CONSOLATION for the Redwings was leading the hit parade, 6-5. Runs, not hits, though, decided the game. Stretton fanned five Boosters while Tom Hoffman struck out three Redwings.

Hernbrott took over the batting lead for Coach Elmer Kirchhoff's squad, in spite of getting a horse collar. Gene Wasco also garnered none for four, dropping to .324 in doing so while Hernbrott stands at .339.

* * *

FINAL GAME for the Redwings is scheduled for this Sunday at Recreation park, Arlington Heights, with Union Park Tigers coming to town. The locals have beaten them 8-5 and 4-3 in two previous meetings this summer. Game time is 3 p. m.

Eight Veterans Out To Better Downers Record

Eight lettermen with just two over 180 pounds provide anything but a bright outlook in the forthcoming West Suburban conference football race for Downers Grove. The two are Sam Robertson, 5' 11" guard weighing 195 and Pete King, 6' tackle weighing 190 pounds.

Other than these Coach Jim Stahl has six boys scaling 180 down to 140 pounds. Downers had a 4-3 record last year, including a 22-0 beating administered Arlington Heights. The eleven lost to Hinsdale, Riverside-Brookfield and LaGrange.

BRIGHT SPOT is the presence of 180-pound Dave Lauchle, standing 6' 1", at fullback. At his side will be Bill Fiedler, 160, 5' 9". At quarter will be Jack Dee, as short as his name implies. He scales 140 dripping wet, with his head reaching 5' 8" into the sky.

The other halfback post has Gordon Cich standing just 5' 9" and weighing 160. Only veteran end back this year is Carl McCollum, weighing 140 and 5' 11". Don Compton, the eighth letterman, rates guard at 155 and 5' 9".

THIS FRIDAY night Downers opens at East Aurora and journeys to Naperville a week later. League opener is September 27 at home against Riverside-Brookfield.

Assisting Coach Stahl at Downers is Guy Wellman.

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

Coach George Haley's Wauconda Bulldogs are, on paper, the team to beat in the coming Northwest conference gridiron season. With nine returning lettermen of whom six were regulars the Bulldogs are well fortified with experienced performers at every position. For the past few years Wauconda has had a number of frosh-sophs on the varsity team. This year they have several boys with two or three years of varsity behind them.

While Wauconda has no 200 pound boys it is interesting to note that only two varsity boys are under 150 with an average over the 160 mark, plenty heavy enough for small school football.

While boys like Nolan, Kersten, Prior, Moestue, and Krueger are hard to replace it appears this year that Haley will have much stronger reserve replacements than he had last season when his team tied for third with Palatine and had a record of five wins two losses and a tie.

With Barrington gone and both Palatine and Grant short on veterans it could be Wauconda's big chance. Last year they surprised the league. If they win this year it will not shock anyone for Wauconda's class is pretty well known.

CO-CAPTAINS DICK HECHT, 160 pound guard, and George Sutko, 170 pound open field running halfback, will lead the team. Sutko, an all-conference man last year, is expected to have a big season.

Haley has Bob Conner, 185, and Bob Hecht, 180, at the tackles. Tom Nolan, 170, and Bill Jewell, 165, look like starters at the ends.

Harold Bass, 165 pound junior, has had two seasons of first string competition at guard. Lyle Case, 165 center, was understudy to Krueger, a second all conference man last year. Harold Fishback, a junior fullback weighing 160, came along fast late last year and was a hard line plunger.

Wauconda opens Saturday at home against Maryville of Des Plaines in a non-league encounter. Barring injuries to key players Coach Haley will have his boys in the running right down to that final home game with the Palatine Pirates November 1.

* * *

COACH TOM FREDERICK of Barrington has a tale of woe for sports writers as the Bronchos prepare for Arlington Friday and the league opener with Woodstock a week hence. According to the Broncho grid mentor Stan Hartwig, a fine back is out for the season with a broken ankle and Paul Jensen, a 200 pound tackle, has met a similar fate due to an appendectomy. He also says Bob Bentley, 200 pound fullback, is in question due to a bad knee.

After naming several more injured men Frederick says they have enough left to field a team. They'll do all right, except for the first two named, we'll bet they'll all be in action at Arlington Friday night.

If Arlington wins then the Broncho are not of the class of the past two seasons and will have rough going in the North Suburban. Barrington will be strong in the line with Bill Harrison, Bunny Lindberg, Barry Berghorn, and Dick Popp outstanding regulars. Harrison and Lindberg were all conference last year. It is common practice for coaches to sing the blues when the going gets tough.

* * *

MOVIES OF ALL GAMES are slotted for Arlington Heights high school football squad this year. Taking the pictures of varsity games, plus half of each frosh-soph encounter, will be George Larson, with Coach Carl Nelson helping for the time being.

George Larson

Spotting mistakes of the Cardinals on the field, with visible evidence for Monday "reflections," is number one job for the head of the camera club, with some hint as to tactics employed by visiting teams also expected.

Other schools do the same thing, including several other West Suburban squads. For Heights it will be an innovation with lack of a grandstand telephone the only thing keeping Arlington from being "just like down town."

* * *

RUSS AHEARN who piloted Hebron to the state title in basketball last winter claims he was offered the head spot at Oak Park but turned it down. Ahearn believes Hebron will again be a power in suburban area basketball and no one doubts it with a veteran six-foot-10 center around which to build a team. Harry Kinert of Freeport, who coached the 1950 state champs, did accept the Oak Park vacancy.

Don Wilbrandt, captain of the Hebron team, has enrolled at Valparasio university figuring he will have a better chance in a small school. Valpo has had outstanding cage teams in recent years. Where the Judson twins will go is not known. It is said they were not accepted for admission to Wisconsin and will wind up at Bradley, but we have no official information.

* * *

IT APPEARS NORTHERN TEACHERS at DeKalb have done right well in the matter of attracting basketball material. Bob Griggas, all-state center from West Rockford, plans to enroll at DeKalb and the coaches there are really delighted. Sam

Eight Year Old Wins First Place In Race

Robert Scott, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott, Wheeling, won first place in his first race in competition last Sunday in Milwaukee at the meet operated by the Badger State Outboard Racing association. The race was in the "J" class.

This was the same boat and motor that won the regional championship race two weeks ago with David Hoffman as driver.

Softball Game To Benefit Cop's Widow

A benefit softball game with proceeds to go to the widow of Des Plaines policeman Harry Bending, killed two weeks ago in holdup of a loan company, has been scheduled to follow the Arlington Redwing baseball game Sunday in Recreation park.

Benefit game will probably start about 4:30 p. m., immediately following the Redwing contest. It'll be Arlington Bowling Lanes vs. Tody's Lounge in the softball affair. Refreshments will be free of charge with all fans in this area invited.

Seven lettermen will be seeing action in the line for Palatine in Friday night's football opener. Six of them are pictured here, including, left to right, Wally Swanson, 190 pound tackle; Sam Genovese, 175 pound guard; Gene Holtzee, 220 pound guard; Chuck James, 170 pound center; Delbert Koelper, 180 pound tackle, and Richard Abrahamson, 180 pound end. Missing from the picture is Bob Burden, 180 pound end.

It looks like Palatine is finally going to have a football team made up of boys who love to block and tackle and do it with spirit and a viciousness that will make opponents know they have been hit. The Palatine football team is still untried but all observers have tabbed it the best by far to don the gray and maroon of the Pirates.

Saturday night fans will get a chance to see the new team in action on the Community park gridiron against Warren of Gurnee in a non-league battle. Palatine will be the favorite if the boys play like they practice and there seems to be no sign of choking up or being afraid on the part of the 1952 Pirates. The transfer of Northbrook players and Coach Bill Lutz to handle the line has brought competition, which is making a good team.

* * *

WARREN HAS been an opponent for Palatine the past three years with the Pirates taking two out of three. Last year Dick Abrahamson caught a touchdown pass in the final 30 seconds for the victory and rangy "Abe," the only returning Palatine regular, is showing up as a very smart and aggressive wingman. On the opposite end of the line the Hartman twins, Don Wente, Bill Breyer, and Rasckowski are staging a real battle for a starting job.

Coaches Welty and Lutz have unusual strength in the middle of the line. "Chuck" James at center is a really tough customer. Bob Johnston is his understudy. At guards Bob Burden, Sam Genovese, Bob McKee, and Gene Holtzee give Palatine both class and depth. Burden was a reserve end last year but has found his real spot at guard.

* * *

GENOVESE WAS a regular at Northbrook last season as a sophomore. Bob McKee played on the New Trier soph team a year ago. Holtzee, is a 220 pound Palatine veteran. Wally Swanson, Del Koelper, John Busch, and Ralph Berlin are all good at tackles. Koelper was a Northbrook star and with James, backs up the line. He is one of the best tacklers Palatine has ever had.

Swanson and Busch saw considerable action for the Pirates last year and with Berlin crowd the 200 pound mark and are very rangy.

* * *

COACH WELTY has two very good backfields but just who will start Saturday is still up for grabs. Harlan Gephart and Stan Hauseman are both fine fullbacks. Gephart, a 175 pound letterman, hits the line harder than anyone on the team. Hauseman, a Northbrook star transfer, is tough to bring down once he gets his 200 pounds underway and is a good passer and a long punter.

At every position on the team the Palatine coaches have replacements about as good as the starters.

* * *

PALATINE'S varsity game Saturday night is scheduled for 8:15 following an intra-squad set-to between the freshman squad coached by "Chuck" Feutz, Gene Moylan, and Russ Dowell, and the sophomore squad handled by Claude Bailey and John Ellis. With 50 freshmen and 30 sophomores out for football this preliminary will be in the nature of tryouts for the many boys who have been absorbing the fundamentals of the game since August 25.

The frosh open the season at Antioch next Monday afternoon while the sophs will play the prelim at Bensenville, the first Northwest conference test, a week hence Saturday night.

After playing Warren Palatine travels to Bensenville Saturday, September 20, for an opening conference double bill under the lights and then play at home Friday, September 26. against a much improved Antioch club. Admission to all Palatine games will be 60c for adults and 30c for students.

22 Out For Cross Country At Arlington

Four lettermen are back for Coach Russ Attis and his cross country squad at Arlington Heights high school as the initial call brought out 22 boys to compete for the team. The group will probably be cut to 15 by the time of the first meet.

* * *

CROSS COUNTRY has become of age at Arlington Hts. Days of workouts to enable "basketball players to get in condition" are gone, according to cross country and track mentor Attis. Just last year Attis was known to have been hoping to develop a good miler for his next spring's track team.

This time, though, the sport is only for boys interested in making the team and competing in meets. Spending time on boys interested only in getting wind and legs in condition for other sports is out, as far as Attis is concerned.

* * *

INITIAL MEET is still ten days off with complete schedule slated to be released next week. Most of the meets will be run just as the football schedule runs though a few out-of-the-conference events are being planned.

Golf Tournament At Mt. Prospect Sept. 20-21

Tri-City amateur golf tournament is being planned for September 20-21 at Mt. Prospect country club, according to manager Bob Sophie. The tourney, open to men golfers of the area, will include 18 hole rounds each day, starting at 12:30 with entry fee of $7.50 covering greens fees and other expenses.

First round Saturday will qualify all golfers in three classes, A, B, C, for championship round Sunday with prizes and trophies to be awarded in each class. The meet will be a non-handicap affair.

Entries can be mailed in to the Mt. Prospect country club with payment, with a deadline of Wednesday, September 17, set by tournament manager Bob Sophie.

Wheeling Lions To Sponsor Wrestling

A wrestling match with top performers will be sponsored by the Wheeling Lions club at the Arlington Heights high school gymnasium Friday, September 26.

This event, the first of its kind to be held by a Wheeling organization, is given for the purpose of raising funds for an emergency car to be given to the village of Wheeling.

67 Out For Bisons; Leyden JVs Saturday

Sixty-seven boys, the most to ever go out for football at Bensenville high school, were nearing the finish of their pre-season drills this week as the Bisons readied for their first game of he 1952 schedule Saturday night. Opposition will be furnished by the Leyden junior varsity with the kickoff slated at 8 p. m. at Bensenville Memorial field.

Coach Tom Meneguin's varsity eleven is being built around eight veterans from last year, but the starting lineup is not yet set with a number of boys still fighting for spots. The veterans include tackles Tom Walsh and Harvey Larsen, guards Claude Vandruska and Art Jolie and backs Pete Welch, Ronnie LaFata, Chester Koop and Charles Hernandez, who is expected to miss the Leyden game due to an eye injury.

GRADUATES from the '51 frosh-soph squad bidding for varsity roles include ends Dave Sloan, Ellsworth Whitney and Fred Froelig; tackle Malvin Yarke; guard, Carl Landino; centers Kenny Barker and Ronnie Nelson, and backs Herb Brown, Bob Bedgood and Eugene Benhart. Also showing well are guard Joe Jankers, full back Ronald Radke and Lyle Emery, who may be used as a defensive guard or line backer.

This year's edition of the Bensenville grid squad will be seeking to improve on a fifth place finish in the Northwest conference last season. The Bisons will open their league schedule at home against Palatine a week from Saturday. A frosh-soph game will be presented at 6:30 p. m. with the varsity contest set for 8 o'clock.

Tri-City Woman's Golf

Tri-City Woman's Golf league, playing at Mt. Prospect Country club, had for its weekly event "low gross" Sept. 2.

A Flight (Helen's Beauty Salon) Hazel Burnier, Dorothy Carter.

D Flight (Top Hat Cleaners) Elsie Kurtz, Dory Rohner.

E Flight (Mt. Prospect Pastry) Bernie Mehleck.

Arlington Aims For Revenge Against Barrington Friday

Arlington opens the lid on another high school sports season Friday night under the lights when the Cardinal gridders play host to Barrington. Preliminary game pits the frosh-sophs at 6:15 with the varsity meeting at 8.

With the exception of 1950 when the Broncos took the locals, 13-7, Barrington has never been too much of a problem for Heights on the gridiron. The Cardinals have won three of five games played since 1945, the first game ending in a scoreless tie.

Prior to '50 the visitors reached pay dirt just once, in 1947 when they lost, 27-6.

BARRINGTON has had four good athletic years the past four seasons, losing in football only to Arlington Heights in '48, and Libertyville in '51. Some local fans often felt the Ex-Northwest conference school avoided meetings in '49 and '51.

Just how good Barrington will be this year is a question. Plenty of good boys are gone with the last two graduating groups carting away a host of top notch talent. The game with Arlington could indicate just what kind of year the Bronchos will encounter in North Suburban league play.

* * *

FOR ARLINGTON things are looking brighter than last year when the locals had a dismal season, losing all seven West Suburban league games. Biggest difference this year is the spirit of competition and play. Gone are the days of begging boys to play football.

Intrasquad game Saturday and practice under the lights Tuesday have shown Coaches "Bus" Ormsbee, Bill Beckman and Gene Mudge that some of the boys are ready. Particularly bright spot is the center position where Dick McAuliffe has about cinched the position. He looked good Saturday.

In case he does falter, however, Mark Creviston and John Glueckert will be ready and willing to step in.

* * *

LAST SATURDAY the backfield looked good though team play wasn't what it should be in a regular game. Regular combinations of backs and linemen were broken up to even the squads.

John Eakins did a good job of running and calling plays, but lacked the skill of Dick Winterbauer flinging passes. As a result Winterbauer will be at quarter Friday night with Eakins at halfback. Roger Thomas looked good at the other half.

* * *

STARTING LINEUP Friday night will find Bob Dotts and Ken Lemke at ends. Both boys are juniors who won numerals last season. At tackles will probably be Dave Brant and Roy Henneberg, both returning lettermen. Joe Rezek and Denny Straus provide veterans for Coach Ormsbee at the guards plus McAuliffe at center.

A veteran backfield will take the field for Heights Friday night against Barrington, in Winterbauer, Eakins, Thomas and Tom Theis. All four won their letters in initial West Suburban league play last season.

The above lineup, rated offensive by Ormsbee, will remain almost intact defensively, too, as long as they deliver. This year's squad will probably see fewer substitutions.

* * *

SEASON TICKETS are still on sale this week at the high school office and at Millay's, going at $5.00 for a reserved seat at all of the five home doubleheaders. Single game reserved seats are $1.25 with general admission $1.00. Student admission is 50c.

Double sessions at home will start at 6:15 while traveling games, also doubleheaders, will begin at 12:15. After Barrington the Cardinals play host to Marmion of Aurora, travel to LaGrange September 27, then come back for homecoming against Glenbard October 3.

Norman Carlson Of Itasca Wins In Sports Car Race At Elkhart Lake

Norman E. Carlson of Itasca set his sights on first place in one of the championship sports car events, the annual Elkhart Lake road race two years ago, finishing seventh of half a hundred cars. This year he made it when his MG, one of two sports cars under his ownership, copped its class in an event against 55 entries.

The Elkhart Lake affair, recognized in sports car circles, both home and abroad, as the top race of the year, is a collection of two days of racing on a black top road around the lake and through the town of Elkhart Lake, Wis.

* * *

THE RACES are not professional, with huge purses, though the event attracted an estimated 135,000 along the route. It's strictly a few trophies put up for grabs among a lot of guys (and one gal this year) who drive and enjoy sports cars, mostly of foreign vintage.

In the big car class it was the Briggs-Cunningham vehicles that won top honors, the only American made cars in the tests. Three entries from the West Palm Beach motor builder finished 1-2-3 in their class, gaining most of its advantage in the getaways after the turns.

* * *

BUT IN LOCAL circles we're dealing with a man behind a motor just a bit larger than a motorcycle averaging 74.5 miles on many laps to cart home a large, first place silver bowl. That motor has a 76 cubic inch capacity, two inches larger than a motorcycle. A Ford motor has about a 240 cubic inch capacity, for comparison's sake.

Weight of Carlson's MG is about 1800 pounds, and is driven in the various monthly races held throughout the midwest with only the windshield and a few extras removed. Otherwise, it's the same car he uses to run down to the Itasca drug store to pick up a DuPage County Register on Fridays.

* * *

COST OF THE CARS vary from $2,000-up, with the MG being the "poor man's car" in this respect. Most entries are foreign made and cost as high as $8,000-$10,000. Carlson's MG has four forward speeds, weighs about half as much as a Chevrolet, and recently placed second in an economy run from Chicago to Waukesha, getting 35.9 miles per gallon.

In Sunday's affair Carlson hit 104 at times on the straightaway, but drove "under the yellow flag" for 32½ miles after a six car collision in which several spectators were injured. Ambulances and fire trucks tied up the road as all drivers coasted around the course.

* * *

A YEAR AGO Carlson was entered in the 200-mile affair at Elkhart Lake, coming home seventh in his class. This year in the century event he led the first lap of 55 cars, copped his class and finished ninth overall. Carlson also has a Jaguar coupe he uses strictly for pleasure, though there's always one possibility of racing that one, too.

Town Club Swimming

Tryouts for the 1952-53 Town club of Chicago swim team will begin Monday, Sept. 15, and will continue through October 15.

Rookie Tackles Look Better This Year For Bears

It's the backs who draw the rave notices and catch the attention of the fans, but five big new Bear tackles will come under close scrutiny Sunday afternoon at Wrigley Field when the Chicago Bears battle the New York Giants in the seventh annual armed forces football game. Kickoff time is 1:30 p. m.

The Bears appear to have come up with one of the finest rookie crops in years, and among the standouts in that classy group are a quintet of speedy, big, bruising young tackles. The biggest of the lot is Herman Clark, a 265 pounder from Hawaii, who starred last fall at Oregon State college. Clark, who stands 6 feet, 3 inches, is called the fastest big man ever to play with the Bears. George Connor describes the youngster as a "big cat."

* * *

BILL BISHOP, a 250 pounder, who stands 6 feet, 4 inches, alternates with Clark at right tackle. He has been outstanding from the first day he reported at camp. Bishop gave an excellent account of himself in three pre-season games, against the Pittsburgh Steelers, Cleveland Browns and Philadelphia Eagles.

Bill George, who gained All American honors at Wake Forest college, is the fastest . . . and strongest man of the group. Bill also is the "midget" of the tackles. He is only 6 feet, 2½ inches and 233 pounds. George also takes his turn at offensive guard.

* * *

FRED WILLIAMS, a product of Arkansas, is 6:4 and weighs 250 pounds. He was one of the top linemen of the College All-Stars and the Bear coaching staff rates him highly. Bobby Cross, the fifth member of the Rookie Tackle Brigade, also is 6:4, but only weighs in at 243. He is called a "real comer" by Phil Handler, who is coaching the Bear tackles and guards.

Arlington's Eric Nelson One of Candidates for Quarterback at DeKalb

Coach Chick Evans and his assistants are faced with a major rebuilding job. Only eight of his 22 starters from last season's undefeated IIAC title-winning squad are back, and only 15 letterwinners in all reported this fall.

The biggest gaps, of course, were left in the heart of NI's offense—quarterback and ends. The Huskies passed seven out of ten times last fall, and have been a passing team for several seasons.

Other Heights boys on the roster trying for positions include Frank Deigl at end, and Charles Fischer and Eddie Kostka in the backfield. Also on the roster are Roger Smith and George Vermillion of Grant high school, at guard and tackle, respectively.

57 Attend Twilight Golf Leauge Tourney

Arlington Heights twilight golf league tournament was held at Arlington Country club September 7 with one of the best turnouts in the history of the league. A total of 57 members and alternates showed up for the affair and turned in some very fine scores.

Len Arnold took low gross honors with a neat 38-34—72. Second to him was Chuck Kleinofen with a 40-37—77. In the low net department Ed Wolf easily took honors with an 84-25-59. Second was Len Arnold with his 72-5-67.

Prizes will be awarded for low gross and net scores at the league banquet September 7 at 7 p.m. in Union hotel, Wheeling.

Heights Frosh-Sophs Big, But Slow, Hope For Good Season

Coach John Ligon is wearing a smile these days, a 170 pound grin that grew from initial disappointment as 33 boys turned out for sophomore football at Arlington Heights high school. He's got two front lines of equal ability, the first weighing 170 and the second 177. He's also got two backfields, also of equal caliber that can be interchanged as the situation warrants, the first one averaging just under 160.

Things have changed since that first day Ligon and Coach Maurice Klotz welcomed the second year boys. Spirit, interest in football, and willingness to work are evident on the squad with plenty of big, though slow, linemen available for this season's coming campaign.

AT ENDS Ligon has Dick Malcomson at 150 and Harrison Kennicott at 145. At tackles it's Bruce Wilkerson at 195 and John Lukan at 185. For the guards it's Don Hansen, 160, and Ronnie Dritlein, 155, while Lowell Dobbins, 190, could be given the nod at center.

Picked second for the Heights sophomore eleven, though most boys could have been selected first, are Floyd Burns and Jack Johnston, a pair of 175 pound ends. Dave Lynk makes a good tackle at 220 pounds, as does Paul Cutler at 170. For the guards fans can note Tom Wagner, 160, and Ivan Dvoracek, 150. Bob Dahlquist holds down the center spot, weighing 185.

* * *

THE WEIGHT drops in the backfield but ability of the quarterbacks more than makes up for the lack of beef. At quarter are Dennis Maher, 140, and Jerry Sauter, 135. At the halves it's Wayne Mueller, 185, and John Theis, 150, plus Rich Kyska, 135, and Jim Laughlin, 140. At full Ligon has placed Wayne Brumm, 160, and Bruce Rasmussen, 140.

Mueller was an end last year but has been converted to a half this season. He, Dennis Maher and Floyd Burns gained a lot of experience playing for the frosh-sophs last season, the latter two being named co-captains at the end of the season.

Most of these same boys, playing a five game schedule last in '51, were undefeated as they ran up 18 touchdowns to their opponents' two. Scores last season included 21-0 and 32-0 wins over Palatine, 19-0 over York and Niles, and 25-13 tally over Maine.

Frosh-soph encounter will all be preliminaries to the varsity this year. Opener Friday is at home against Barrington.

Can Apply Now For Public Hunting Permits

Applications are now being taken by the department of conservation for permits to shoot on Illinois public shooting grounds. Deadline for applications is September 25 and should be made in writing to division of game management, department of conservation, room 121, Capitol bldg., Springfield.

An application must include the name and address along with the hunting license number of the applicant and one partner if he plans to take someone with him. He can apply for only one day on a pheasant area and one day on a waterfowl area. There is a two dollar daily use fee required.

As there is always a surplus of applications the Department draws names to receive permits. Obviously there is more demand for week-ends so the hunter who can get away during the middle of the week has a much better chance of getting one of the coveted permits.

There are now five pheasant and six waterfowl areas abailable with more being developed for later use.

Married Illini

Six members of Illinois' defending Big Ten champions will have wives in the stands rooting for them this season.

Capt. Al Brosky, Jim Catlin, Bill Ellis, Ken Miller, Stan Wallace, and Lawrence "Bus" Stevens are the squad's married men. Catlin and Stevens, the team's only fathers, have baby daughters.

Here's A Tip On How To Be A Fullback

Here's a tip on how to be a great fullback: have flat feet and legs that don't match. John "Kayo" Dottley whose 1312 yards for Mississippi in 1949 were the most ever acquired by a major college star playing major league opposition every week, celebrated his rookie season of 1951 with the Chicago Bears by finishing sixth in the NFL, compiling the second highest average (5.3 yards) among the top six. But he has flat feet and says one leg is shorter than the other, markedly so as a boy.

55 Frosh Report For Football At Heights

Fifty-five frosh have reported for Arlington Heights yearling football though 22 are slated to be weeded out by the opening game next week Friday, September 19, against Crystal Lake. Coach Curtis Larsen, assisted by Coach Carl Nelson, plans to drop to 33 boys early next week.

A six game slate has been carded for the first year boys with one open date still to be filled.

Complete schedule:

Friday, Sept. 19, Crystal Lake, there, 6:15.

Thursday, Sept. 25, Palatine, here, 4:00.

Thursday, Oct. 2, open.

Thursday, Oct. 9, Palatine, there, 4:00.

Friday, Oct. 17, Niles, there, 4:00.

Monday, Oct. 27, Hinsdale, there, 4:00.

Monday, Nov. 3, Maine, here, 4:00.

Wheeling Stars Win, 11-9, Over Mount Prospect

The Mt. Prospect Merchants were defeated by the Wheeling all stars last Sunday, 11-9.

The Merchants led, 6-0, at the end of two innings. Shaky support given to Halverson accounted for a few of these runs. Five hits by the Merchants in these first two innings also helped.

Halverson then settled down and allowed only one more hit the rest of the way.

* * *

SOENKSON started on the mound for Mt. Prospect and did very well the first two innings. In the third, shaky support plus a home run by Halverson netted three runs for Wheeling. In the fourth Wheeling leveled its big guns and had six runs before Peterson came in to retire the side.

In the last two innings Wheeling received two more unearned runs on one hit. The order of the day on both sides seemed to be a case of jitters in the field.

* * *

NEXT SUNDAY the Merchants travel to Wheeling for a return match. It is hoped Denny Thill will be available for mound duty. Game time 2:00 p. m.

The first annual banquet for the Mt. Prospect Merchants Little Leaguers will be held Sept. 30 at St. Paul Lutheran church gymnasium. Dinner will be served at 6:45.

This banquet is to be a token reward to "the boys" for their wonderful play and cooperation during the season.

VIC LESH, former star Northbrook back, will be assistant coach at Western Illinois state teachers college where he was among the nation's leaders in scoring on the grid team last fall. Lesch will be working for a masters degree this year . . . Don Buenzow, Palatine's six foot seven cage center, has finally decided on Tulsa university and will play under Clarence Iba who used to coach Arlington Heights high school . . . Palatine has 113 boys out for football and 82 of them are freshmen and sophomores who will play each other in a preliminary to the varsity game with Warren this Saturday night . . .

SPORTS WRITERS covering Arlington high's activities have applied for roller skates to use while chasing coaches in and out of locker rooms, offices and halls in the new addition . . . What appear to be twins on the Marquette football schedule are only Miami of Florida, then Miami of Ohio . . .

Changing times are evident in news from the Chicago Bears where newly acquired Eddie Macon, fresh out of college, has been married seven years, is father of three daughters, and has an army hitch behind him, including eight months in Japan — all at the tender age of 25.

On the roster at DeKalb this year are Roger Smith and George Vermillion of Grant, both selected all-conference for Paddock Publications in Northwest football. Smith made it two years . . . All time record of the Fighting Illini against this year's nine opponents stand at 109 wins, 111 losses, 19 ties . . .

Mission Crusaders To Hold Annual Missionfest

The annual missionfest of the Lutheran Mission Crusaders, Missouri Synod, will be held September 21 at Lake Zurich.

Guest speaker will be Rev. A. A. Wessler of the Immanuel Lutheran church in Crystal Lake with the Spiritual Adviser, Rev. W. G. Fechner of Northbrook, delivering a short message.

Friends and relatives of the Mission Crusaders are also invited to attend.

Sandwiches and refreshments may be had at a nominal cost.

Brosky, Neathery and Wallace Top Defensive Backfield for Illini

Illinois' football team boasts the nation's most talked-about defensive backfield in the deep threesome of Capt. Al Brosky, Herb Neathery, and Stan Wallace.

While the average fan enjoys watching the work of these defenders, few realize what goes into preparation for duties as "defensive specialists" in modern football.

Take it from Brosky, spokesman for the group, it isn't all natural ability. It's more sweat, bruises, and tiring repetition of drill that has none of the thrills which come to ball carriers or offensive blockers.

* * *

ALL THREE are fine athletes, turned to specialist roles because of unusual ability rather than lack of talent in other realms of football.

Safetyman Brosky is leader of the group that hauled in 19 interceptions last season. Flanking Al are left half Neathery and right half Wallace. The trio has given complexes to more than one outstanding passer, and this year they again face some of the nation's best.

One reporter asked Wallace to name the team whose passing attack he dreaded most. "Illinois," Stan answered promptly—and he wasn't kidding.

For an hour and a half each practice session Coach Ray Eliot and backfield Coach Ralph Fletcher throw opponent's pass patterns at the Brosky-Neathery-Wallace combination.

"Four or five receivers come down the field 'clean'," Brosky says, "and sometimes we just don't have enough men to go around." Even then the trio keeps quarterback Tommy O'Connell below the .502 percentage he hit last season.

* * *

THE THREE have developed a "team" spirit and hang together in all Illinois practice sessions. When not facing the offensive platoon, they are working through tackling drills or throwing passes at one another. The latter occupies a large share of their time.

They throw long and short, hard and soft, high and low, but never an orthodox, easy-to-catch aerial.

Foot work gives the defending backfield the most trouble. Fletcher sometimes drills the trio for an hour on a seemingly simple routine to follow while dogging a receiver. "We have to pivot and sidestep while running backward," Brosky says. "Every time we turn our backs to the passer, we offer them a chance to score."

* * *

BUT THE WORK pays off.

Brosky has intercepted 22 passes in two years and is probably the country's top safetyman. Neathery's goal-line catch in the 1951 Northwestern battle clinched a Big Ten championship, and Wallace's 54-yard runback of an interception in the Rose Bowl was the turning point of the game.

No Big Ten opponent has passed to a touchdown over this combination since it formed last September, and the three are hard at work to keep that record clean through the 1952 season.

HOLY NAME

Large crowds and low scores marked the opening of the Holy Name bowling league of Our Lady of the Wayside parish at the Arlington Heights lanes Monday night. A contingent of 38 keglers answered the first-night call, thus presaging formation of a six-team loop with alternates.

League prexy Paul Wulbecker, pleased with the turnout, advises that several other men have already signified their intention to roll this year.

Based on opening night events, plenty of laughs are on tap. With the maple-splitters bowling to establish their seasonal handicaps, several competitors were quite ludicrous in their attempts to hold down their scores. At least, it is assumed they were deliberately rolling gutter balls and missing spares. Nobody bowls like that otherwise. Joe Sweeny and Phil Cullen were prime examples of this subterfuge.

Among the men who gave it the old college try were Charlie Weisenbach 543, Pat Gilmore 495, and Jim Howard 489. After these three high men however, scores fell off quite rapidly.

Officials of the newly-formed league, with positions not dependent on bowling ability, are Paul Wulbecker, president; Lou Stephanic, vice-president; Bob Bell, treasurer, and Joe Bodor, secretary. As a group they now bear responsibility for these weekly Monday night fiascos, and all complaints of bowlers' wives should be addressed to them.

Liquor Taxes Up; Legal Buying Down

Excessive liquor taxes are putting a severe restriction on the American consumer — a squeeze that amounts to "pocketbook prohibition."

Harry G. Serlis, president of Schenley, recently cited the fact that tax-paid withdrawals of domestic whiskey — regarded as an accurate barometer of consumer buying — declined 25,017,008 gallons in the first six months after the new $10.50 federal excise tax went into effect. The Schenley executive also noted the total of direct and indirect taxes on a $5 bottle of whiskey have reached the staggering total of $3.80.

And besides, said Serlis, although the purpose in raising the federal excise tax was to increase revenues, actually the government received $127,268,728 less in revenues from domestic whiskey than it had the previous six months when the tax was lower and more consumers could still afford to buy legal liquors.

Outlook For Dairymen OK

Cash receipts from the sale of dairy products in 1952 are expected to set a new record of $4.5 billion.

This is $100 million above the prevous high set in 1948, according to L. R. Fryman, dairy specialist in the Illinois college of agriculture.

Dairymen who sold whole milk to plans and dealers received 7 per cent more for their product during the first half of this year than a year earlier. Butterfat prices were up 9 per cent.

PRICES ARE also expected to average higher during the second half of 1952 than during the same period last year. Higher prices, however, will not mean proportionately higher net returns, Fryman said, because production costs are also higher than they were last year.

Dairy prices are usually at their peak in the fall, and cows that freshen at this time of year produce more milk and butterfat than cows that calve at other periods.

THUS IT WILL pay dairy farmers good dividends, the U.I. dairyman adds, to see that their fall-freshening cows get off to a good start. That means adequate dry periods, proper conditioning and careful management of the fall fresheners.

Should Have PMA Ballots By Now

All eligible farmers of Cook county are urged to take part in this year's PMA committee election. Votes may be cast by mail.

Mr. Bormet, of the Cook county PMA committee announced that ballots are in the mail to all known eligible farm owners and operators. These ballots can be marked in their own homes and then returned, either by mail or in person, to the county PMA office at Arlington Heights on or before Wednesday, September 17, 1952.

ANY FARM OWNER or operator who hasn't received his ballot by September 11, and believes he is eligible to vote, should make personal inquiry at the county office.

PMA committees administer locally the Department of Agriculture's farm program, which include the Agricultural Conservation Program, price support loans and purchase agreements.

Farmers are aware of the accomplishments made through these programs and all should take this opportunity to vote for the persons whom they believe will do the best job.

Our baby is growing fast. How fast?, you say. Fast enough to need more than 7 million acres for the 1951 increase in population. But we can't get it here. We are using every acre. Partly true. Better soil management with a good rotation will prevent soil erosion.

This No. 1 enemy is stealing the top soil, fertility and organic matter so neatly that it isn't detected until it is too late. It is much easier to hold what top soil we have than to build it up once it is gone. Just as important is pasture improvement. A good grass legume mixture can supply 6,156 lbs. of forage as compared to 2,751 lbs. from an unfertile pasture.

Draft Board Has New Method Of Rating Farm Help

A new method of estimating the productiveness of individual farm workers was announced by Colonel Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois selective service director. "We are now able to determine, on the basis of actual production, whether or not a farmer merits deferment from military service," Colonel Armstrong said.

The new plan uses "work units" to indicate the amount of labor required to produce a given quantity of farm products. One unit equals one man's labor for a ten-hour day. For example, it takes .022 work units to produce a bushel of corn and .18 units to produce 100 pounds of milk. Similar unit values have been set up by Selective Service, in conjunction with the Illinois agricultural mobilization committee, for all major crops and livestock.

NO FARM WORKER will be considered for deferment unless he performs at least a minimum number of work units per year, Colonel Armstrong said. The required minimum will be determined by the local board in each county after consultation with the county agricultural mobilization committee. It was emphasized that the basic qualifications for farm deferments remain unchanged. They are: (1) The farm must produce a substantial quantity of commodities for market (it must not be merely a "subsistence farm"); (2) The worker must be employed full-time except for seasonal interruptions; (3) He must be irreplaceable; and (4) His removal would seriously impair the farm's effectiveness.

The new plan for measuring farm labor requirements was adopted pursuant to orders from the president designed to safeguard agricultural production while at the same time providing needed men for the defense forces. Colonel Armstrong quoted the President's statement that, "These orders do not permit permanent exemption of any worker from Selective Service. Rather, they provide a more orderly basis for granting the temporary deferments which local boards have customarily extended to qualified individuals."

Expect 10,000 Farmers At Outlook Meetings During September

More than 10,000 Illinois farmers are expected to attend the annual fall livestock outlook meeting which starts tomorrow with sessions in Pike, Kane and Mason counties.

The 88 county meetings scheduled for this fall will continue through October 1, with the final meeting in Gallatin county, according to W. G. Kammlade, associate director of the University of Illinois agricultural extension service.

One of the most popular extension activities in Illinois for over two decades, the state-wide project has been attended by between 10,000 and 11,000 farmers each fall in recent years.

The outlook meetings feature talks and discussion periods on the livestock market situation, feed supplies, expected livestock prices and other conditions affecting feeding operations for the coming season.

Local arrangements and announcements of the meetings are being handled by the county farm advisers. A specialist from the College of Agriculture and a representative of a livestock marketing agency serving that area are scheduled to talk at each meeting.

Farm Tractor Is Like Loaded Gun; Always Dangerous

Records of the Illinois rural safety council show that tractors are involved in more than half of all machinery accidents.

Principal causes of tractor accidents are falling from or being thrown off the tractor, overturning, unguarded power take-off shafts and violation of traffic rules on the highway.

Safe operation of the 3,000,000 tractors in use on farms today could save hundreds of lives and thousands of serious injuries every year, the council emphasizes.

Easily Cleaned Walls Needed in Milk House

Asbestos-cement board is especially well adapted as a wall and ceiling finish in such farm buildings as milk houses, where sanitation is particularly important. The board has a smooth, hard surface which can be cleaned easily by scraping, scrubbing or hosing.

New Type Pig Feed Tested on Konen Farm

Tests on a spectacular new type of feed for baby pigs have been completed on the farm of Nick Konen, Batavia. Pigs raised on the new feed weighed almost eighteen pounds heavier than the average by eight weeks of age. More remarkable than the growth was the low cost of feeding. The extra pork was produced for less than six and one-half cents per pound.

The new feed, called Creep-Milk, represents an entirely new idea in the field of swine feeding. It is a pre-starter for baby pigs. It is fed only the first four or six weeks before pigs begin eating sufficient amounts of their regular creep ration, and then is discontinued.

Authorities have known for a long time that considerable extra growth of baby pigs could be accomplished if it were possible to substantially increase the vitamin, antibiotic, and trace mineral content of their diet. The problem has been how to get these extra nutrients into pigs during the first month when they rely almost entirely on the sow.

Synthetic sow's milk has been one answer. Creep-Milk is another. In the Konen tests, the pigs remained on the sows and were fed Creep-Milk dry and free choice. Only three pounds per pig were consumed during the entire test period but eighteen extra pounds of pork were produced.

DDT Carry-Over In Soil Reported

Recent experiments by U. S. department of agriculture entomologists to measure lasting effects of DDT in the soil showed that the carry-over was 92 per cent after two years.

After 4 years the DDT carry-over was 43 per cent and after 7 years 29 per cent. The experiments also revealed that the chemical stays effective longer in poor soils than in soils that are high in organic matter.

The entomologists reported that in several eastern states a single treatment of 25 pounds of DDT to the acre resulted in a nearly complete Japanese beetle grub kill within just four weeks. They found that one application was strong enough to kill the grub five years later.

Tips On Storing Garden Seeds, Final Plantings

What to do with those left-over garden seeds, and which vegetables can still be planted in Illinois this season are two popular questions from gradeners at this time of the year.

Cook county farm adviser Carl F. Mees says that as a rule it's best to buy seeds fresh each year, but if you do keep seeds over it's a good idea to make a germination test next spring before planting.

Some seeds have a long life; others are good for only a year or two. Length of life depends partly on conditions under which the seeds are stored, as well as on the kind of seed.

Onion, sweet corn, parsley and parsnip seeds keep their vitality for only one to two years; beans, peas, okra and salsify, for two to three years; cabbage, kale, turnips and mustard, for four to five years; and cucumbers, melons, squash and tomatoes, for about five years. To keep their vitality for these periods, however, the seeds have to be kept under favorable storage conditions, which means a cool temperature and relatively low humidity.

As to garden plantings yet this year, leaf lettuce, mustard, spinach and radishes can still be planted in the central and southern sections of the state, Mees says. Dates recommended by the Illinois Garden Guide for these plantings are September 8-17 in southern Illinois and through September 5 in the central area. It's too late for fall garden seedings in the northern counties.

How Good Are Ladino Swine Pastures?

Some swine growers in the state have reported savings of 30 to 50 per cent in protein supplement with Ladino over other good legume pastures.

AT THE UNIVERSITY of Illinois farms, a test is now being carried out to learn to what extent Ladino clover pasture will take the place of protein supplement and grain for bred gilts as well as for sows. Bred gilts may need grain in addition to pasture, Russell says, because they are putting on body weight and growth at the same time they are developing baby pigs.

Other farmer experiences and experiment station trials have indicated that mature sows can get along very well on Ladino clover without grain during the summer months. Swine growers who haven't tried Ladino are missing out on the feed-saving possibilities of this high-quality legume pasture crop, Russell concludes.

Nation Will Need 70 Million Acres

Seventy million acres more farm land will be needed by 1975 to feed and clothe the growing population of the United States, Dr. Byron T. Shaw, agricultural research administration director, estimates.

Dr. Shaw says part of the needed increased production can be obtained through control of diseases and insects that harm crops and livestock, and through soil conservation, wider use of fertilizers, reduction of spoilage and waste in distribution and research to increase productivity.

Farmers to Visit Canada and California On IAA Tours

Majestic sights of Canada and the Pacific Northwest will unfold before the eyes of some Illinois farmers and their wives this fall when they take either of two tours sponsored by the Illinois Agricultural Association.

Both tours begin Dec. 3 in Chicago. Tourists who make the trips also will attend the annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Seattle, Wash., Dec. 7--11.

The combination business and pleasure trips have been planned by the IAA, the state-wide Farm Bureau organization with more than 190,000 farm families as members.

Tourists will leave Chicago the morning of Dec. 3. The Pacific Northwest group will travel through North Dakota, cross the Continental Divide, circle Glacier National Park and see Grand Coulee dam in Washington.

After attending the AFBF convention, the group will visit Portland, Oregon, and then move on to San Francisco and thence travel to Los Angeles.

Following sightseeing in sunny, Southern California, the tourists will leave on a two-day motor trip to Tia Juana, Mex. Grand Canyon will be visited before the group of farmers arrives in Chicago Dec. 20.

Full information concerning the tours may be secured from the county Farm Bureau offices. Reservations may still be made.

Contour Plow Cuts Full Width on Curves

How to cut furrows of uniform width on contour curves as easily as on the straight-away is a problem solved with a new "contour break-away" plow recently announced by the J. I. Case Co. It has pivotal action that avoids the tendency of plow bottoms to swing in or out on a curve.

The beams and bottoms pull from a pivot point in the plow itself. The pivot is located at a point where it leads the bottoms accurately around curves without crowding or swerving. The break-away feature allows the plow to "let go" and avoid damage if it hits a buried stone or similar obstacle.

The new contour plows are built in two and three-bottom sizes for one-minute mounting on the Eagle Hitch of the latest Models "SC" and "DC" Case Tractors.

Words Often Misused

Do not say, "I see you are all alone." Say, "I see you are entirely (or, quite) alone," or better still, "I see you are alone."

In expressing a wish, do not use "would have" for "had" or "might have." Say, "I wish they had (not would have) left earlier." And, 'I wish you might have (not, would have) been with us."

The use of "sure" for "surely" is colloquial, and is never used in formal English in this sense. Do not say, "I sure am going." Say, "I surely am going."

The use of "fire" in the sense of "discharge from employment" is still considered slang, and should, therefore, be avoided in formal usage.

Do not say, "He is nothing like as spry as he used to be." Say, "He is not nearly so spry as he formerly was."

Words Often Mispronounced

Words Often Misspelled

Wave (an undulation); waive (to give up claim to). Noticeable; retain the e after the c. Velocipede; observe the ci and the ede. Loath (adjective meaning reluctant); loathe (verb, meaning to regard with disgust); loathsome (no e after the th). Lessen (to make less); lesson (instruction). Surplice (ecclesiastical vestment); surplus (excess).

Word Study

"Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Chemical Sprays For Soybeans That Are Weedy

If soybeans are not weedy, knocking the leaves off with a chemical spray won't do you much good. G. S. Cooper, University of Illinois agronomist, says that clean soybeans are likely to ripen in plenty of time anyway and only about a week later than if you spray.

* * *

BUT IF YOUR soybeans are weedy, it's a different story, especially if you have a reason for harvesting early. The chemicals will kill the weeds, Cooper has found, and will allow you to harvest the beans about six days after spraying. Otherwise you would have to wait for a frost to kill the weeds, even though the soybeans were ripe.

Cooper, in University tests, has found that you can treat Hawkeye soybeans when about a third of the leaves are yellow without reducing yields. The chemical will cut yields of other varieties, though unless you wait until more than half of the leaves are yellow.

* * *

AT PRESENT there is only one chemical on the market that can be used as a soybean defoliant. It's pentachorophenol, commonly called penta, and you can buy it under several trade names, Cooper says. Instructions for using it are given on each can.

One thing you need to be sure of is that all of the plant is cov ered by the spray. The chemical kills by contact, Cooper says, and the leaves will not dry up unless all of them get some of the spray.

You can buy the spray material either in a concentrated form or mixed with oil.

Urge Completion of Conservation Practices

Farmers were urged by Mr. Bormet, PMA chairman, to take all possible action to complete soil conservation practices that have been approved for their farms.

These practices, he said, are not only essential to the future production of the nation—but they pay good immediate returns to landowners and operators. This is a lull season in regular farming work and many fields are cleared of crops. It's an ideal time to catch up on soil conservation work.

Committeeman Bormet gave particular stress to work on waterways and pasture development. These practices, he pointed out, have been approved under this year's AC program on a lot of our Cook county farms. They have been set up on a priority payment basis. Next year these practices will not be offered on a special basis, so we are making a special plea for farmers to complete these projects this year.

C. D. Smith To Be Ag College Associate Dean

Assistant dean C. D. Smith of the University of Illinois college of agriculture assumed responsibilities of associate dean in charge of the resident teaching program and student affairs in that college September 1.

Smith takes over these responsibilities from R. R. Hudelson, who will serve for one year as acting dean of the college to succeed retiring Dean H. P. Rusk. Smith has already served one year in the same capacity while Associate Dean Hudelson headed the college of commerce as acting dean last year.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

'Squeak-Proof' Door Hinge

A MILWAUKEE man discovered a clever way to permanently silence a door hinge that has a persistent squeak. He first removed the hinge pin and rubbed the length of it with emery cloth to reduce the diameter slightly. He then filed a flat surface the length of the pin.

Next he coated the pin with petroleum jelly and replaced it in the hinge.

He now had a "squeak-proof" hinge which was silent because the lubricant was stored on the flat surface. Before, the oil he used could not penetrate the full length of the pin.—Illustration courtesy Family Handyman.

Farm Management Tour Sept. 19 on Palatine Farms

The annual Farm Bureau-Farm Management tour will begin September 19 at 10:00 a. m. D.S.T. on the Ed Lauffenburger & Son farm located on Long Grove Road north of Rand, about 3/4 mile on the right side.

Here you will see an 85-acre dairy farm, with a high-producing efficient Holstein dairy herd, together with hogs and poultry. About 48% of the tillable land is in grasses and legumes. Grass silage is used and crop yields are very high. The group will stop at Schmidty's Lunch Room, junction of highways 12 and 68, for lunch.

At 1:00 p. m. tour will proceed at the Martin C. Meyer farm on Wilke road, ¼ mile north of Palatine road. Here you will see a 77-acre dairy farm, with a high-producing, highly efficient dairy herd. About 60% of the crop land is in grass and legumes. The crop yields are very high.

At 2:30 p. m. L. H. Simerl, Ag. Econ. Dept., Univ. of Ill., will present material on the outlook for the remainder of 1952 and part of 1953.

The public is cordially invited to attend this tour. Anyone interested in membership in the Farm Bureau-Farm Management service should contact the Farm Bureau offices.

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. What wedding expenses are the bridegroom responsible for?

A. Wedding ring, clergyman's fee, corsage for bride's mother and his mother, boutonnieres, wedding ties, gloves (if worn) to ushers and best man, gifts to best man and ushers, wedding gift to bride, marriage license, bachelor dinner, honeymoon, and all expenses from then on.

Q. I have heard that it is poor taste to use artificial flowers around the home. Is this true?

A. Certainly not. They are quite popular, and some people even use them for decoration on the dinner table. Be sure, however, that they are bright and clean looking!

Q. Should the used silver be left on the platter when it is being removed from the table?

A. Yes.

Q. What is a suggested bill-of-fare for a buffet breakfast?

A. Have large pitchers of cold tomato juice and fruit juice together with small glasses first on the table. Follow this with grapefruit, melon or fruit cups, then scrambled eggs and bacon or sausage, hot toast and sweet rolls, and finally plenty of hot coffee.

Q. If a close friend of a bereaved family attends the funeral, is it necessary that she wear black clothes?

A. No, any subdued shade of clothes is suitable. Just avoid anything gay or of a "frivolous" nature in your attire.

Q. At a wedding supper, where should the father of the bridegroom be seated?

A. At the right of the bride's mother.

Q. What do you do when someone whom you have forgotten says, "You don't remember me, do you?"

A. Inasmuch as it is rather wounding to one's pride to be forgotten, the kindest thing to do is to say, "Of course I do," and then try to bluff your way through the rest of the conversation. Try later, of course, to find out who that person was!

Q. If tea is served and a guest does not care for it, would it be all right for this guest to ask for a cup of coffee?

A. Not unless the hostess asks if the guest prefers coffee. Otherwise, drink the tea, or part of it, and express no preferences.

Q. Should a man who is traveling alone use the prefix "Mr." when registering at a hotel?

A. No; he should register as John B. Harrington, New York City.

Q. What amount of tip is it customary to give to a bellboy who brings a telegram to one's hotel room?

A. From fifteen to twenty-five cents.

Chicago Symphony To Open October 2 at Orchestra Hall

The 62nd season of the Chicago symphony orchestra will open at Orhcestra Hall October 2, with Rafael Kubelik returning for his third year as musical director and conductor after making guest appearances at leading European music festivals, including Salzburg and Edinburgh. George Schick will assist him as associate conductor.

The early opening is occasioned by an Eastern tour the orchestra will make during the first two weeks of March. New subscribers are urged to make inquiry now for available Orchestra Hall locations. There will be three series of subscription concerts: 28 Thursday evenings beginning October 2; 28 Friday afternoons beginning October 3; and 12 Tuesday afternoons, beginning October 14.

Three of the world's foremost conductors—Bruno Walter, Otto Klemperer, and Guido Cantelli—will be guests during Kubelik's mid-season vacation, and many distinguished soloists will be heard during the season.

Cantelli will be making his midwestern debut when he takes the podium for the concerts of January 8 and 9. Conductor at La Scala, and world-famous, Cantelli is well known in the United States for his radio concerts with the NBC symphony as a substitute for Toscanini during the regular season.

Klemperer, who will conduct January 13, 15, and 16, is conductor of the Los Angeles philharmonic orchestra. He has held a top position in the music world for many years and was formerly director of the Berlin State Opera. He was guest conductor at Orchestra Hall in 1937, and in the Ravinia season last year, Klemperer's fortnight of concerts were hailed as most successful.

Bruno Walters' appearances January 27, 29, and 30, and February 5 and 6 will mark his fifth season as guest conductor with the orchestra. Renowned as one of the great and beloved men of music, Walters' appearances are always high spots of the musical year wherever he conducts.

"If I had my life to live over again..."

Jewell Miller, Illinois Bell Installer, who is retiring on a pension this fall after 40 years' service with the company

"I'd do some things differently, of course, but I'd still start all over again with Illinois Bell. It's given me a chance to earn a good living for my family. It's been a pleasant place to work — I've made a lot of friends along the line. I've gotten real satisfaction from my job, too — telephone work is useful, essential work. And now that I'm about to retire, I've got a pension that will help to keep me in comfort as long as I live.

"Would I recommend the telephone company as a good place to work? I certainly would — to any young man or young woman."

When a man nears the end of his business career, he's in a position to speak with utter frankness — particularly when he has a pension that helps to assure his future. Mr. Miller, Illinois Bell Installer with 40 years' service, is in such a position. And this year there are some 365 other Illinois Bell men and women who will also retire on pensions. Talking to them, you'll find that most feel as Mr. Miller does about the telephone company. It's a good place to work. Today, as when they were young, it offers a real opportunity to young women and men.

Having fun in Florida, Mrs. Helen R. Long, former Illinois Bell Operator, who retired on a pension two years ago and now lives in the sunshine state.

Adult Evening School Offers 44 Courses

The fifth season of the Adult Evening School division of the Arlington Heights township high school will present 44 courses in the fall term at reduced tuition by reason of cooperation with the high school board of education. Standard skill courses and vocational courses are being repeated, some offered for 20 weeks and the majority for 10 weeks.

New courses for this year include: advertising your business, commercial art, accounting, blueprint reading, and leathercraft. Courses given only in the fall include: landscape gardening, soils and fertilizers.

* * *

A COURSE in world politics, sponsored by the University of Chicago, is being offered this fall for the first time. There are no educational requirements, and any adult may attend.

Registration will be held at the high school Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, September 22, 23, and 24, with classes beginning the week of September 29. Many classes fill by mail registration.

Village Theatre productions are offered in connection with the Adult Evening course this year for the first time.

Safe Basement Ceiling

Effective fire protection is needed between the basement and the first floor of a home, fire prevention authorities say. It can be obtained by nailing asbestos-cement board to the bottom of the exposed first floor joists.

Eight Travelogues To Highlight New Travel-Adventure Series

The third season of the travel and adventure series will be offered by the Adult Education division of the Arlington Heights township high school. Eight travelogues in color, some with musical accompaniment, will be presented.

* * *

RAY EGGERSTED will return for the third year showing his new Colorado film which was taken by power boat down the Colorado River and Grand Canyon Basin. This country has often been filmed from the top looking down, but seldom from the Basin looking up. Ray's second film will be the whole of Canada from Quebec to the west coast of British Columbia including Banff and the Canadian Rockies. Ray's presentations are noted for his beautiful accompanying music and interesting dialogue.

Another favorite of the travel and adventure series will be Julian Gromer who made "The Inland Waterway From New York to Miami" this summer. This is a glorious region showing southern color and tradition. Julian's second film will be "Sunny Cuba." Mr. Gromer has developed an outstanding presentation including humor and human interest.

Curtis Nagel will appear for the second time bringing his outstanding film, "Rhine Journey" which gives a view of Western Europe from the Black Forest north to Hamburg. Those who heard Curtis Nagel last year rated him one of the outstanding presentations of the season.

* * *

NEWCOMERS to the course for this year are J. M. Hagopian, who is a leading authority on Arab and Middle Eastern affairs, a former instructor at the University of California, and visiting professor at the American university of Beriut. His film is entitled, "Desert Destiny" which is the product of three years of travel and research in the far East.

Another newcomer to the course will be Tom McHugh, who will present "Wonders of the Wilderness." This film was taken in Wyoming's Jackson Hole, Yellowstone Park, and the Teton mountains.

The last showman on the course will be Alfred Wolff presenting "This Is New England." Highlights of the film include an evening with Norman Rockwell, Harvard's glass flower collection, historic scenes in Vermont and Massachusetts.

Carbon Monoxide Kills 1,000 Annually

Carbon monoxide poisoning, caused by gas leaks or incomplete combustion of gas in defective home appliances, kills about 1,000 persons every year

New York City alone reported 222 deaths from accidental and undetermined carbon monoxide in 1950. An inspection of 22,328 apartments in older areas uncovered 11,056 appliances which were leaking raw gas, were otherwise dangerous, or were in bad repair. Of these appliances 8,085 were gas ranges and 2,140 were gas refrigerators.

During a 10-year period, from 1940 through 1949, there were 2,552 accidental gas poisonings in New York City and 40 per cent of these deaths occurred among persons 65 or more years old. Aged, infirm persons, living alone in small rooms tightly closed to maintain warmth, are the most frequent victims.

Driver Training Course Has Use Of 3 Autos

Due to the heavy demand for driver training instruction from both Arlington Heights high school students and adults, a staff of six instructors and three driver training cars have been provided for the work this year.

The driver training cars are not purchased by the school, but are loaned to the school by arrangement with the motor car manufacturer and in co-operation with the local automobile dealer. The high school pays for licensing, insurance and operating costs.

LOCAL DEALERS who are co-operating with the program this year include George Poole, for the Ford agency; N. M. Lattof for the Chevrolet dealership; and Harry Knaack, local Buick distributor.

Arlington Heights township high school is the only school in the immediate area giving instruction to adults, and it also has the highest driver training enrollment among high school students for any high school of its size in the state. Three terms of instruction are being given this year, which is a new program of driver training for this section of the country. Driver Training officials from motor club organizations, state police, and higher institutions will be observing the program in operation during this school year. State driving examiners are highly enthusiastic about the local program.

Instruction is given to high school students without cost, except for the licensing fee required by the office of the Secretary of State, and a small charge for gasoline and oil. Adults pay a nominal fee for instruction by the hour, or for the driver training course, which is given in the Adult Evening school.

Deferred Men May Apply for Commissions

Navy commissions under the officer candidate program will no longer be available to men who have received orders to report for pre-induction physical and mental examinations unless they are enjoying educational deferments. College men enjoying educational deferments must apply for commissions within 120 days prior to graduating to be eligible for consideration.

Complete information concerning the officer candidate program is available at the office of naval officer procurement, 844 N. Rush st., Chicago.

Ice Skating Begins At Chicago Arena

Chicago Arena, the windy city's "indoor Sun Valley", opened for the 1952-53 season Friday night, September 5, when the first of the public ice sessions was held.

The season of public skating calls for two sessions each day, from 2:30 to 5 p.m. and 8:15 to 11 p.m. Free instruction to beginners is offered each Monday night. Speed skates are permitted each afternoon from Monday through Friday, except on school holidays. For those who don't have their own skates, the Arena has a lavishly-stocked pro shop where the blades can be rented at a nominal rate. Locker service is also available. Mildred Fitzpatrick provides skating music on the Arena's $50,000 Wurlitzer organ.

Public skating will continue until the arrival of the magnificent Ice Follies of 1953, the Shipstads and Johnson's seventeenth annual edition on October 9.

"Our Aim: To Fear God, Tell The Truth, and Make Money." — H. C. Paddock, 1898-1935

Happenings 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 years ago this week

Fifty Years Ago

SEPT. 13, 1902

Dr. E. A. Elfeld has located at Arlington Heights and opened an office at his residence over Lorenzen's Tailor Shop.

Mass meeting will be held Sunday at the Presbyterian church in memory of the late President McKinley.

While Dick Lytle and A. G. Smith were on their way to Libertyville where Dick will live, they lost a buggy halfway between Palatine and Long Grove but picked it up on their trip back.

Palatine people should not get excited about the new electric railroad. It will not be built for another year anyway.

Bensenville Fire Dept. needs very badly a ladder wagon or some kind of an apparatus by which two, three or four men can get the ladder to a fire in a hurry.

Organizers Disappointed with Adopted Country; Overcame Early Difficulties

Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church of Hanover township will celebrate its 100th anniversary Sunday, Sept. 21 with a jubilee service at 10 a.m. at which the speaker will be Rev. Nienkamp, Nebraska, who is a former pastor.

A beef dinner will be served at 11:30 a.m. to which the general public is invited.

Speakers at the anniversary service which will start at 2:30 will be Rev. Carl Meyer, president North Illinois Synod and Rev. George Goebel.

Luncheon will be served at 4:30. The evening service at 8 p.m. will be addressed by Rev. Walter Meyer of Kansas and Rev. Edward Hoefer of Elgin.

Baptisms 1,646, confirmations 861, weddings 368, funerals 700, communicants 28,472. The total benevolences recorded since 1881 amount to $34,072.32.

1877—It was decided "to remove the constitution from the corner stone of the church and model the revised church constitution after it."

1877—It was decided "to borrow the pastor's salary, which is overdue, under condition that those in arrears with their church dues shall pay the interest."

1877—It was decided "to collect outstanding church dues for the pastor's salary within 14 days; in case of failure to pay, court action shall be taken against them."

1878—"The pastor may be present in council meetings."

It is interesting to note that child mortality was much higher that it is today. It was decided several times to set the cost for digging a child's grave at $1.50.

It is only of recent date (1940) that it was decided that "men and women might attend Lord's Supper together."

Many remember the days when the church was the distributing center of the mail. The mail was "fetched" from Ontarioville during the week and handed out in church on Sunday morning. Could the anticipation of receiving a check from the stock yards, or a letter from a loved one, perhaps, have been an inducement for church attendance?

THE HISTORICAL account, which is being published in book form, gives an insight into the trials and tribulations through which the congregation passed during its early years.

"The church was originally organized because of transportation difficulties to reach other places of worship. The story:

"The desire to emigrate to America, the land of fabulous wealth and opportunity, prompted many German people for whom the prospect of success were not too promising, to leave their homeland and cross the ocean in search of a better land. Many of the emigrants who settled in Hanover township came from the province of Hanover, Germany. Aside from the similarity of name, they found nothing in this section consisting of wilderness, virgin forests, swamps and prairie lands which could have reminded them in any way of the homes and farms which they had left behind.

"They were sadly disappointed; their souls sorely tried. Homesickness gnawed at every man's heart. If money for a return fare had been available, and if pride had permitted it, many would have left on the next train east to recross the ocean. But they had to stay.

"The German settlers set to work and by sheer perseverance and industry overcame insurmountable difficulties, built their primitive homes, cleared the land and brought it under cultivation. For a surplus of products they were dependent upon Chicago. The roads to that city were neither paved nor graveled, which made transportation extremely difficult.

"The author of the "Golden Jubilee" booklet interestingly describes the hazardous journeys—the vehicles, mostly drawn by oxen, how, tormented by thirst, these unmanageable beasts would turn from the road to the water puddles in the swamps and mire the load. This necessitated the unloading and reloading of the products under unfavorable conditions as often as 15 times before Chicago could be reached. To make matters worse, the proceeds from the products sold were miserably small.

"The nearest church was in Schaumburg. Due to the poor roads, which often were impassable, it could be reached only in a roundabout way. So it came to pass that a number of farmers planned to have a church in their more immediate neighborhood. According to the oldest records available, 13 farmers came together in October 1852, to organize a congregation and to plan the building of a house of worship.

"The names of these charter members are: Wilhelm Schuenemann, Wilhelm Heine, Heinrich Meier, Carl Stumpf, Christoph Soehle, Carl Meier, Christ Stumme, H. Gellermann, G. Rippberger, G. Struckmann, Wilhelm Freise, Biesterfeldt, and Ripke.

"The name chosen by this group was "Deutsche Vereinigte, Evangelische Lutherische Immanuel's Gemeinde."

"The first building which served as church, school and parsonage was completed in 1853."

REV. J. H. ELLERBRAKE, former pastor of St. John's church, Arlington Heights, was twice pastor of the Hanover church.

"In 1943, the St. John church of Plum Grove felt that they were no longer in a position to adequately support a minister of their own. They approached Immanuel church on the question of affiliation. A happy solution was reached when it was decided, in the December meeting of 1943, that Immanuel church share the services of their pastor with Plum Grove. Rev. Nienkamp was the first to render such service. The arrangement has worked to the full satisfaction of both churches.

"Since 1945 there has been a gradual, but decisive change in the appearance of the church premises. Not only did the old barns and the schoolhouse disappear, but also the dilapidated gates and fences about and around the property. A program of landscaping was carried out which included the planting and transplanting of hundreds of trees, seedlings and shrubs."

Politics

Though I may not profess at this time the brand of religion I was brought up on during youth, I have for a few years attended certain Bible classes since 1947 and gained some "spiritual" ideas therefrom. The old hypocrisy, bigotry, etc., seems to have gone—the modern trend appears to approach the subject from a more commen sense viewpoint, especially in the Methodist Bible class sessions which I have attended in the past few years.

I really get a "kick" out of attending these free discussions on present events, discussed by intelligent old and new timers, though I don't agree always. (I've been told they miss my comments when I'm absent).

As I remember the M. E. church and S. S. of my youth, they were bigoted and narrow. Now I find a much different attitude. The Bible classes even speak of politics. For instance, Sunday, Aug. 3, the title of the lesson was: "What Kind of Statesmen Do We Need?" or words to that effect. The scriptural text was anent the administration of one David and his magnanimity toward Saul and his descendants. Though David (as history states) didn't show much mercy later, maybe he did the best he could. His son, Solomon, was also a sensual despot (according to the scriptures).

In the class I attended Aug. 31, the controversy got around to the difference these days between a statesman and a politician. Of course I had to put in my two cents worth and popped up as follows, quote:

Why not look at it this way? —A statesman takes the attitude: What can I do to promote the best interests of the public according to the D of I and the Constitution?

The politician asks: What is the public good for?" (unquote).

I don't claim any particular wisdom because I made that remark. But I simply think there might be something to think about.

What are we coming to when guys who don't seek the nomination get same by acclamation—even though they don't profess said acclamation by the American people? They are good men of course. But why not nominate men the people want — in this government of, for and by the people? They and they only should choose the chief executive.

Not In The Park

With the support of a good attendance Tuesday night at the park board meeting we hope to bring to an end the holding of any carnivals in Recreation Park, Arlington Heights, in the future. This can only be brought about by the whole-hearted support of all interested parties.

We are not against carnivals. The purposes to which the money raised is put to use are all worth while, and the carnivals should have the support and cooperation of all. However, we feel that the time has long since passed when these carnivals should be held in Recreation Park.

1. Arlington Heights has grown by leaps and bounds these past few years and is now too large to make it advisable to hold any carnivals in any village park.

2. Parking facilities around Recreation park are too inadequate to service the crowds the carnivals now attract. Traffic is too congested, and we are sure that many of you have had the unpleasant experience of having strangers park either on your lawns or in the entrances to your driveways.

3. The crowds attending the carnivals are now very large, not only because the town has grown so rapidly, but also because of necessity, they are held during the race track season. Because there is so often an element of undesirable people attending all large carnivals, many parents in Arlington Hts. have forbidden their children to visit Recreation park unescorted during carnival time.

4. The very purpose for which Recreation park was created and dedicated is defeated, because the children of our village are being deprived of much of their playground area. Recreation park was created mainly for the children, and it is not fair that they should be deprived of even a tiny corner of the park. This should be of paramount interest, not only to the people living in the park's vicinity, but also to the people throughout our entire village.

There are many open spaces on the outskirts of Arlington Heights which would afford adequate parking facilities and which would prove more desirable locations for the holding of carnivals. Let's keep Recreation park for the purpose to which it was dedicated—a playground for our youngsters.

Legion Carnival

I noticed in your recent publication that the Arlington Hts. Park District Board has tabled the request of the Legion for the use of park property for next year's carnival on the grounds that it interferes with normal recreational activities.

I am not sure just what the park board means by this, since it is quite apparent that all the children and many of the adults enjoy considerable recreation from this annual Legion affair. When we consider the Saturday morning field day for the children, the many people who come to our city not only to enjoy this carnival but also to trade with our merchants, and the mammoth fireworks display which becomes better every year, I believe it would be difficult to find any one group which is doing a better job of achieving civic betterment than our Legion friends.

I am all the more surprised at the board's action since I learned the Legion annually gives a substantial sum to the park board district for use as they see fit. Why, after some years of equanimity, does the board feel this is suddenly an infringement on the recreational activities of park district patrons?

I do agree that possibly a better clean up job might be done by carnival officials and the park grounds left in better shape if this is the problem. I am sure the Legion would be the first to agree with this and see that this is done. But to say that this annual Legion carnival, which is so enthusiastically supported by Arlington Heighters, young and old alike, interferes with recreational activity of our youngsters seems quite an incongruous statement when we consider all the facts.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

from PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

How impressive my pantry shelf looks this evening colorfully and deliciously adorned with nine quarts of rosy, golden peaches! My first venture into the mysterious business of canning has proved successful and fired with enthusiasm, I intend to tackle tomatoes and apples within the next few days.

Knowing what little talent I have for the art of cookery, Peg, you probably wonder how in the world I ever got involved in a canning project. Well, my dear, I must admit that it was Kathleen who suggested that we divide a bushel of peaches and can them at her house. I'm certain that she was unaware of the fact that I had never canned anything before, or I daresay she wouldn't have been so eager. (By the way of explanation: I still have a mental picture of myself peeling and peeling anything that happened to be in season for what seemed to be hour after hour, while Mother bustled around among pans of boiling water and steaming glass jars — both of us wrapped in the hot, moist, sweet odor of the kitchen. I promised myself then that when I had a home of my own I would have nothing to do with this form of slow "torture" by knife and steam!) However, after agreeing wholeheartedly to the suggestion (I must have been so shocked by her enthusiasm that I had a momentary loss of memory), I told her that I knew nothing about canning but would be delighted to do it with her.

SO EARLY this morning Megan, Bridget and I arrived at Kathleen's with jars, tops and half a gallon of simple syrup. Megan went with David to the sand box, Bridget went upstairs to bed with her bottle and I went with Kathleen to the kitchen, where the smell of cooking peaches was already filling the air.

"Now let's see, how'll we do this?" Kathleen spoke first, "that kettle of peaches there in front is done and ready to be put into jars."

Kathleen went on, "So, since my jars are sterilized, I'll start filling them and why don't you go on with the peeling?"

FOR A MOMENT I was back in Mother's kitchen with the great bushel basket, the knife and the garbage pail all sneering at me. But, rather than drop my jars on the floor and flee, I calmly set them down on a table; then, with determination, walked over to the sink, snatched up the knife and with vengeance attacked the first peach.

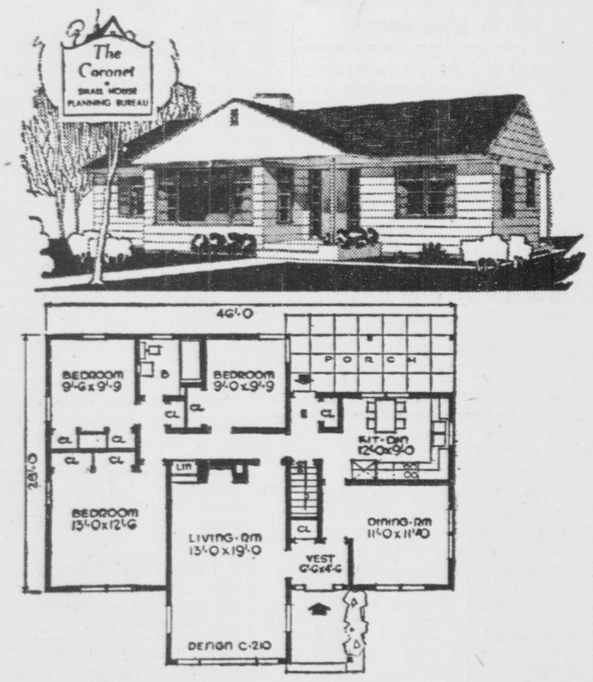
In a matter of minutes Kathleen and I were in the midst of a sprightly conversation, the revulsion I felt at first toward my task was forgotten, and it was time for me to sterilize my jars and fill them. After I had dropped the sterile tops on the floor a few times and had to re-sterilize them, picked up my sterile jars with my hands and had to re-sterilize them, dropped the sterile tongs on the floor and had to re-sterilize them, I slowly caught on to the technique and the process began to run smoothly. Needless to say, I was thrilled and relieved to see my first few jars filled with the luscious pink and gold fruit.

WE TOOK a needed relief at noon, fed the children and had our lunch, and put David and Megan down for their naps. By the middle of the afternoon, we finished the last of the peaches and gazed with tired pleasure at the product of our efforts. After dividing the jars and packing mine in the car, I gathered up Megan and Bridget and came home.

As soon as Bob got home last night, I took him into the pantry and, "showing off" my work for the day, said most casually, "In a few days we're planning to can chili sauce and apple sauce. You know, dear, there's really nothing to it . . . "

My love,
Patty

New Ideas In Homes



THE CORONET features a plan in which all rooms are corner rooms with the advantage of cross light and ventilation. There are three bedrooms, bath, a separate dining room, combination kitchen-dinette, living room and ten closets.

Closets include wardrobes in the bedrooms, coat closets at the entrances and linen and storage closets in the bedroom hall.

Dimensions are 46 feet by 28 feet with the living room extending forward another eight feet. Area is 1,280 square feet Cubage totals 24,736 cubic feet.

For further information about THE CORONET, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Model Homes Displayed Next Week at Palatine, Barrington

The Highlander and the Saratoga, two of National Homes Corporation's most dramatically styled homes, will be open for public inspection during National Home Week, September 14 through September 21. The Highlander, a four bedroom home, located at 727 Skyline Drive, Barrington, and the Saratoga, a three bedroom home, located at 125 S. Bothwell st., Palatine, have been built by Maxon Construction Co. The Saratoga is one of 150 simultaneous National Homes open houses to be held throughout the country during National Home Week's "Parade of Homes."

Referred to as National's "home with a wall of glass," the Saratoga features thermopane or twindow windows with ventilating louvres reaching nearly from floor to ceiling and from wall to wall.

Also new in National's Saratoga and Highlander are shoulder high "slit" windows. These windows offer smart contrast to the thermopane units, afford greater privacy, and permit a more varied arrangement of furniture.

There are many other new and exciting features incorporated in the Saratoga and Highlander. Full overhanging eaves add to the beauty of the design. Horizontal gable siding and a new roof treatment give a lower and more rambling appearance to the homes.

These model homes open during National Home Week feature the Riviera and Ardmoor floor plans. The Riviera includes four bedrooms, 24' living room, kitchen, bath and utility room. The Ardmoor includes three bedrooms, living room, kitchen, bath and utility room.

The living rooms incorporate the thermopane windows . . . front bedrooms and baths feature the new shoulder-high windows in other rooms conventional in size.

The Riviera Highlander is priced at $13,000 complete in every detail. The down payment is $1500 if this house is built on a purchaser's lot. Monthly payments run approximately $95 including principal, interest, taxes and insurance. The Ardmore Saratoga is priced at $9950. The down payment is $950 and monthly payments run approximately $80.

Maxon Construction Co., franchised National Homes dealers in the Barrington, Palatine, Arlington Heights and surrounding area, have been in the building field in this area for the last -1 years. The company maintains offices at 114 W. Liberty st., Barrington.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

There is a woman on my route who threatens to run for president, and I am afraid that if she does, she will carry the feminine vote. Her platform is one upon which I cannot see how she can fail, based as it is on the deep female frustration seething in female minds over man's proven superiority.

This woman told me with appropriate gestures:

"When I am elected, I shall bring a complete change in national economic, social and political situation by:

"1. Herding all males into the desert and surrounding them with barbed wire and machine guns.

"2. Running the nation's business, government and all other institutions as they should be run, and as only a woman can."

Now, Heaven only knows how a woman would run our nation. There would be sewing circles in the white house attended by all the female senators and representatives; bridge clubs; and other feminine social get-togethers where they would talk about everything from A to Zymotic—except government.

As now, of course, the main topic would be man; new styles; and other women. Man, being helplessly encircled in the desert, would be dealt with as their whims dictated.

One by one, we would become masculine housewives; trained servants; and play boys. We would leap at their bidding, fawn at their feet like 6 months old puppies, and obey their slightest command. There would be no argument against a machine gun.

There are as many women of voting age in the nation, perhaps more, than men. By offering special dispensation to aged, and therefore harmless men, the election would be a walk-away.

Late Bulletin

According to late information from auhtorized sources, the recent presidential candidate who was to run on an independent ticket, received the new fur coat she wanted, and has withdrawn. General opinion is that her husband's male friends induced him to shell out for the sake of our national welfare and the preservation of man.

In the Future

A peewee electric motor for toys and models, among other things, comes with gear box, gears, shafts and connector sleeves . . . New car radiator cleaning tank for use by small and medium size garages is available. Hot chemicals are utilized in the tank to prepare radiators for repairing . . . Plastic light deterrent, pre-cut to window pane size and available in eight colors in factories, offices and hospitals. The shade is simply applied to a glass pane with water. The makers state it resists moisture, mould, mildew, oils, grease and alcohol, and can be removed with water and reused . . . Winter is coming: a pocket hand warmer for outdoor workers, school children, and sports enthusiasts, is being marketed.

Can You Tell Me . . . About Waterproofing Brick without changing color?

Do you know of a preparation, or a formula for making one, that can be used on exterior brick, particularly on a chimney that absorbs moisture enough to come through a double brick wall after a protracted rain, staining the ceiling? It must not change the color of the brick materially nor leave a shine on the surface.

There are a number of manufacturers who make a product that they recommend for this purpose. The material is practically colorless and waterproofs the surface perfectly.

WE MAY HAVE JUST THE HOME YOU ARE SEEKING

* * * * *

IN PALATINE

Just 2½ blocks from shopping. Brand new National pre-cut three bedroom home. 12x20 living room, tile bath, Youngstown cabinet kitchen, large utility room, gas fired forced air heat. Storms and screens, lawns in and seeded on 50 ft. wooded lot. $13,450.00. Liberal financing.

2 BED ROOM BRICK
NEAR SOUTH SCHOOL

This is a fine buy in the older, but better two bedroom home. They are twin size with ceramic tile bath on second floor. The living room is large and easily arranged, separate dining room, and cabinet kitchen, full basement with automatic oil hot water heat and attached garage. Located in fine neighborhood only two blocks from South school. An excellent buy at only $16,500.

HERE IS THAT INCOME PROPERTY
YOU'VE BEEN LOOKING FOR

This older but unusually well kept and thoroughly modern home is that hard to find combination — a really good home plus substantial income. The first floor is a dandy five room two bedroom apartment and the second floor has a complete two bedroom apartment. The oversized heating system is automatic — almost new as well as all the plumbing. There is a full basement and a new oversized two car garage. All of this on a big corner lot less than three blocks from the station. Upstairs rents for $100.00; downstairs for $150. Either or both apartments available. Priced at only $21,500. Require about $10,000 cash.

4 BED ROOM BRICK AND CLAPBOARD

Here is a full seven room 1½ tile bath home only two years old. Living room 18x24, dining room 14x16 paneled, 8x15 tiled kitchen, three large twin-sized bedrooms and one 8x12 child's room. There are plenty of closets and cabinets and full basement with partially finished rumpus room. Gas-fired GE heating. Included are many extras, storms and screens, water softener, new stairway and hall carpeting. The home is immaculate and very appealing. Priced at $31,250, with exceptionally low down payment required.

IN SCARSDALE
3 BEDROOM COLONIAL

A most attractive brick and frame 1½ bath custom built home. Large living room with mirrored fireplace, separate dining room, 3 large bedrooms, pine paneled recreation room and gas fired forced air heat. Luxurious carpeting and draperies are included. 100 ft. landscaped lot. Early possession and most attractive terms; approx. $10,000 cash req'd.

FOUR BEDROOM FACE BRICK
COLONIAL IN SCARSDALE

This five year old TACKETT BUILT home is loaded with appeal both inside and out. With its extra cabinets and closets and 2½ ceramic tile baths and generous floor plan, it is perfect for the large family. Decorating is fresh and beautifully done. The 100 ft. wooded grounds are nicely landscaped. Priced at $37,500.00 with attractive terms available.

Weekly Recipe

While shopping, I try to associate my recipes with the many fruits and vegetables arriving fresh at the market each day. Yesterday I saw some luscious peaches and immediately my recipe for Deep Dish Peach Pie came to mind. It is so good, perhaps you would like to make it, too.

Deep Dish Peach Pie

2 cups corn flakes
½ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon melted bttuer
¼ cup peach juice
½ cup broken pecans
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
½ tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup dark corn syrup
3½ cups sliced peaches (fresh, frozen or canned)

Method: Crush corn flakes to make 1 cup coarse crumbs. Drain peaches. Combine brown sugar with salt, flour, corn syrup, peach juice, lemon juice, and butter; cook slowly for 5 minutes. Place peaches in 6 round baking dishes, 3½ inches in diameter; sprinkle with pecans and pour brown sugar mixture on top. Combine corn flake crumbs with 1 teaspoon melted butter and sprinkle over top of peaches. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F) about 25 minutes. Serve with cream. Yield: 6 servings.

Expert Debunks Idea of Taxus Insect Immunity

Deep in the heart of taxus may be more than meets the eye. The taxus, a popular decorative evergreen, has been considered by home gardeners generally as immune to insects and diseases. But growers of yews have known better for some time according to E. I. Kabel, field representative of the Davey tree expert company.

He advises this plant be given as close inspection as other evergreens. Davey experts find at least three fairly common insect enemies which occasionally appear on taxus plants. This triumvirate includes the black vine weevil, the common mealy bug and at least one of the lecanium scale insects. Larvae of the black vine weevil attack the roots. The mealy bug and the scale are sap-of taxus plants proves that the widespread use of any particular plant usually brings about the development of insects that find it a compatible host.

Control for black vine weevil can be had by treating the soil adjacent to the plant with DDT. The mealy bug and scale insect pests can be controlled by well-timed sprays of nicotine and DDT, among others.

Like other horticultural evergreens, taxus is easily damaged by sprays. Formulas must be mixed carefully and according to exact directions by the manufacturers. Killing mealy bugs and scale insect pests calls for a precise spray attack at the time they will be most susceptible. Consult your local nurseryman, tree expert or county agricultural agent for the time table in your locality.

Park Ridge to Vote On Park or Parking

Park Ridge citizens will have an opportunity to decide whether the central school property, opposite the Pickwick theater, shall be used for commercial purposes or public purposes at a referendum on either Saturday, October 25 or Tuesday, November 4, city council decided.

Mayor Haake in his report to the council reviewed previous action of the city in acquiring the property from the school board and stated that he had gone on record as promising the people they would have an opportunity to express their wishes on the final disposition of the land. He pointed out, however, that the council had the power, without a referendum, to do what they wanted with the property.

Palatine School Head Back at Desk From Army

A Palatine army officer, who the past 20 months has been administrative officer of the fifth army headquarters troop information and education, has returned to his home in Palatine and resumed his duties as principal of elementary schools. He is first lieutenant Edwin E. Jones of 327 N. Plum Grove ave.

Lieutenant Jones, a reserve officer, was called to active duty Dec. 16, 1950, and assigned to fifth army headquarters two days later. In April, 1951, he attended the armed forces information school, then at Carlisle Barracks, Pa., and was among the top five graduates.

Jones was commended recently by his chief of section, Col. C. G. Hubbart for his work as administrative officer in the TI&E section. In an official letter Colonel Hubbart wrote of Jones' assistance in developing the fifth army TI&E program.

This program involved advanced scholastic studies for military personnel throughout the 13-midwestern state area of fifth army. Jones organized school programs in various posts camps and stations, and kept a constant supply of United States armed forces institute educational manuals flowing into these branch offices.

He coordinated the fifth army educational program with both military and civilian school principals, and aided applicants in selecting the correct subjects for credit points toward high school and college diplomas.

Lieutenant Jones first entered the service in 1943 and was assigned to the repeater-carrier school at Camp Crowder, Mo. A year later, he was commissioned at the Engineer School, Ft. Belvoir, Va., and was assigned to Camp Claiborn, La., as a company commander.

In early 1945 he was assigned as head instructor at the Warton American technical school, Warton, England. Later that year, he attended the nuclear physics institute of radium in Paris. From 1945 to 1946, Jones headed the public works and utilities, western base section, also located in Paris.

He was appointed as principal of the Mt. Olive, Ill., elementary school in 1948, and in 1949 was named principal of the Palatine schools. He held this position until his recall to active duty in December 1950.

Lieutenant Jones holds the army commendation medal for his outstanding work in organizing utilities information at the western base section in France. The University of Illinois has also bestowed honor on him for his scholastic accomplishments in 1947.

His wife, the former Margaret Farr of Urbana, and his two daughters are residing in Palatine. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Jones live in Boston, Mass.

In Virginia

Leonard Bork, construction man, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Bork, Rte. 2, West Chicago, is currently attached to the naval amphibious construction battalion TWO, at Little Creek, Va.

In his job with the battalion, an element of the amphibious training command, he assisted in the training of cadets, midshipmen and marines, in the joint naval and marine amphibious training operations.

The battalion is an organization of seabees specially trained in the handling of pontoon lfoating equipment, consisting of causeways, barges and tugs.

In Indiana

Pvt. Donald Guenther, son of Mrs. Arthur Guenther, Northwest hwy., Palatine, was graduated September 5 from the stenography course taught at the adjutant general's school at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind.

During the 18-weeks course, Private Guenther was given a total of 788 hours of instruction in such subjects at Gregg shorthand, touch typing, correspondence, filing, machine operations, English composition and grammar, publications and mechanical transcription.

In Korea

Sergeant first class Robert F. Wesrzyn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wesrzyn, Rte. 2, Palatine, recently spent a five-day vacation from Korea on a rest and recuperation leave in Japan.

A member of the 25th infantry division, he stayed in one of the finest hotels in Japan and enjoyed many luxuries unobtainable in Korea. The leave is part of the army's policy to give the fighting soldier a rest from the rigors of combat.

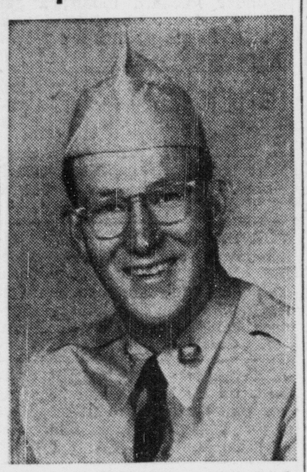
In Japan



Now in Yokahama, Japan, is Pvt. Robert Herrman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Herrman, Palatine.

Bob entered the service last February and was sent to Japan August 1. He is working in the ordnance shops, repairing trucks and planes damaged on the Korean battlefront.

In Texas

Airman Robert V. House, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. House, 203 N. Lincoln lane, Arlington Heights, is completing his AF basic airmen indoctrination course at Lackland air force base, the "gateway to the air force."

Lackland, situated near San Antonio, Tex., is the world's largest air force base, site of air force basic training, for men and women, headquarters of the human resource research center, and home of AF's officer candidate school.

In Korea

Cpl. Paul N. Ellingsen, son of Rev. and Mrs. H. F. J. Ellingsen, 115 W. Fremont st., Arlington Heights, has won the combat infantryman badge, symbol of the front line soldier, while serving in Korea with the 25th infantry division

The badge, consisting of a miniature replica of a Revolutionary war flintlock rifle on a blue background, is awarded only to those who have come under enemy fire.

In California

Private Robert Elmer Schuler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schuler of Box 41 Warren ave., Arlington Heights, is now undergoing training at the marine corps recruit depot, San Diego, Calif.

During the eight-week "boot camp," Private Schuler will become well versed in such basic military subjects as precision drill, first aid, marine corps history and mission and field tactcs.

Three weeks of the training period is spent at the Camp Matthew rifle range, situated 15 miles north of San Diego. While there, Private Schuler will fire the .30 caliber Garand rifle, .45 caliber pistol, carbine and Browning automatic rifle. He will also receive indoctrination firing with the light and heavy machine guns, 60 and 81 mortars, flame throwers, and the latest type bazookas.

Under a newly adopted training program he will also receive instructions in throwing live hand grenades.

Upon completion of recruit training he will be granted a 10-day leave and, if he has maintained a good record, will be promoted to private first class. He will then be assigned to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for four weeks' individual combat training.

Korean Veterans Are Now Entitled To Vocational Training

Korean war veterans will be able to take advantage of the same vocational training opportunities that were available to returning World War II vets, within two weeks.

Ward Black, state director of institutional approval for veterans training, said he expected at least 346 vocational training schools by that time will have been approved and be ready to accept service men as students.

Meanwhile, another state agency is preparing itself to be helpful to service men who wish to enroll either in a school or get "on the job" training.

The Illinois Veterans Commission announced it has the proper forms and will give all veterans all assistance necessary to qualify. The commission has offices in Springfield and a branch in the State of Illinois building in Chicago.

CULLIGAN serves all your water conditioning needs

YOU CAN ENJOY CULLIGAN SOFT WATER SERVICE

There's no equipment to buy, no work for you to do when you have Culligan Soft Water on a service basis! We install our portable water softener in your home—and we take care of it. You simply turn the tap for all the silky soft water you need. As with your telephone, you receive a small monthly bill for the service alone. That's all there is to it.

YOU CAN BUY YOUR OWN CUL-MATIC WATER SOFTENER

Unlike other companies who sell water softeners and then let the owners worry about taking proper care of them, Culligan offers a unique "Owner-Service Plan." With this Plan, you own the softener, but it is designed for interchange with our Service unit so that the Cul-matic can, on occasion, be professionally sterilized and rejuvenated at our plant. Call us for details.

Don't wait to enjoy the benefits of soft water living—it will bring your family new comforts, conveniences and savings all through the house. Talk it over today with the water conditioning experts in your community—at CULLIGAN SOFT WATER SERVICE headquarters.
